

I never even understood

Posted by laughingman - 25 Jun 2016 20:02

When i first started on this sitemy entire life was different ...i had opportunities i wasnt even aware ofmy marriage wasnt where it is now ...and i was soo thoroughly into my fantasy p world i didnt even know that i was burning it all downthen i started counting to 90but the counting became the goal instead of really looking at myself and getting into recoverytook 2 more years and loosing everything at least emotionally....im still counting but im seeing myself for real and my family and im going through the most difficult thingsall from lusti dont know if i will succeed ...i just try to take it one day at a timeif i can just have today without worrying about tommorow that is enough....

=====

Re: I never even understood

Posted by skeptical - 26 Jun 2016 02:59

That's a great attitude!

Hatzlacha!

=====

Re: I never even understood

Posted by yiraishamaim - 26 Jun 2016 04:42

It's really late and I need to get some shut eye but I can't go to sleep without commenting at least briefly to you laughingman. Just want to say that your posts display TREMENDOUS growth.

You sound so much more grounded, focused and clear-minded.

You should be proud of your achievement.

=====

=====