Welcome - sorry to hear your situation.

I'm here for you - what would you like on the menu today?

I like the regular chatting much better.

And I liked porn MUCH better

If we're looking for comfort, the chat may be better than the forum, hiding behind a fake username may be better than calling someone here

But if you will gain by getting out of your comfort zone, or opening up in real if you're an addict which many of us are

Leaving your thread with no description other than your status isn't gonna get your TRUCK started - especially if it's chilly out there

What am I supposed to write?

Re: Me

Some write

"I'm an addict I lust.. (cordnoy)...

Some write

"I'm NOT an addict - I view porn and masturbate only once a month. Actually I'm not interested in stopping masturbation. It's too important for me. I wanna get the porn under control. Any ideas?

Some write

"I don't know what I am. I don't know why I lust and do all these crazy things... go to clubs... hate cubs (that's gonna get cord' riling). What should I do? That's the way I am. I doubt gye will be able to help me in anyway, but I'll do my due diligence and try..."

If you want to take your time and think about it before writing your first short share, sure - no pressure

(btw it's good to keep all your personal story posts on 1 thread)

You did write today

"I have held back a few times today at not looking at things"

IMHO the clearer you can express, the better.

Were you holding back from not looking at the stock market?
