Hi, im 17 and about two years ago there was a while that I watched porn, since then I have been moitzei zera very regularly. I also really njoy speaking about sexual matters and would often try to draw my friends into speaking about such things. Last week I txted 2 new friends in my yeshiva trying to bring them to disscussing these bad topics. Somehow word spread and my mashgiach found out what I did. I had tried speaking to him earlier for advice on how to stop being moitzei zera so he knew what I had watched in school. As soon as he heard about those txts he sent me home for therapy. My therapist suggested I take a look at this website and that I put this blog in. Hoping to stop asap as the current situation is extremely embarassing because half of my yeshiva have found out about the txts. Can't wait to hear back from u guys:blush:

I cannot give advice I do not know you or the progress you have made recently

But I can say that Hashem loves you and for whatever reason has given you this nisayon and you have and will continue to grow from this

One last thought: I am sure you have spoken to your therapist and Mashgiach about this and I hope they have counseled you properly remember what they have said and dive in

It's most likely will get worse before better please do not get discouraged

Let us know when you can how things are going

B'hatzlacha

Hi, this is my first time online since i came to yeshiva, iv got no clue why i was so nervous!!!

i went absolutely fine!!!

?not a single embarrassing comment, nobody mentioned anything at all!

PHEW...

In fact the guys i texted are embarrassed to talk to me, not the other way round!
