

MY PATH TO SANITY

Posted by lionking - 23 Apr 2017 17:35

Hi Everyone,

I have just registered as a new user since I wanted to really start a new leaf. I have been in and out of GYE for the past 5 years. For the most part I've been a lurker with approximately 70-80 posts in that timeframe. I feel like I can use a new identity which hopefully can inspire a real change within me.

I really don't need any standard introduction packages which are usually sent to newcomers, since I've been here browsing through the forums for years. Before I share my story, I would like to thank a bunch of members for their inspiration and especially cordnoy for his honest down to earth posts which are a great inspiration to all of us.

First a little background about me, I aspire to be a Chassidishe Yingerman in actions and spirit not only in affiliation. I'm currently happily married with kids for close to a decade. I have been introduced to sex and porn when I was a small child of about 10-11 by some classmates. Being that I never had a close personal relationship with anyone, I never shared this with anyone. I was too scared to open up to my Parents about it. I became accustomed (addicted?) to masturbating and occasionally looking at porn. I must end this post now, this is too much sharing for one sitting. I'm afraid if I keep going I'll press the cancel button instead of submit. I will try to keep posting and truckin'.

I haven't posted on my thread for a while. B"H those tweaks are helping. I passed the 2 week mark. I need to keep fine-tuning the engine for optimal performance.

Big picture goal now is to get out of isolation.

I hope BL"N to be a little more active on the forums, after Yom Tov when I settle down a little.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has helped me along this journey.

All of us, and the entire Klal Yisroel should be Zoche to a Year full of blessings, happiness, prosperity, and serenity.

Kesiva Vachasima Tovah!

Throughout a year of posts, there is the possibility that I've written something which offended someone, or perhaps something that triggered someone. Perhaps I responded hastily without properly judging if it is appropriate, or for the times when I could've responded and didn't. I would like to ask forgiveness from everyone.

May we all be zoche to a kmар tov and a blessed year with Menuchas Hanefesh.

The ice was too thick to hear the wake up call. Took a month to penetrate. Wasn't doing well since after Sukkos. Need to get back in the game and work.

A little recap on my life.

I have had a rough time getting my life back in order after Sukkos.

B"H, I feel like I snapped out of it already and I am back to normal.

I've noticed that actively participating on the forums has been great beneficial for me. Writing things out helps put them in perspective. Oddly, I find it more beneficial than speaking on the phone. I really need to try to keep it up, so that I am better equipped when I do have a rough time.

Unfortunately some people on the forum poke fun at posts that they don't understand. I hope that won't deter you from posting whatever's going through your head.

And if there is one thing I can accomplish here is that people shouldn't be so damn sensitive to what others write. Heck, it's anonymous; who exactly is causing you grief?

Nice - i like reading your stuff inspiring even if you dont think so..

And if you could get trouble to post more often (and stir up trouble) that would be even better..

Trouble has intimated to me that he feels his style is not welcomed on the forum.

That's sad. I loved his style and wit. I guess that's what happens when only the complainer's (is that a word?!) chime up.

Reminds me of what my wife's tells me about the kids. We need to actively praise them, they hear enough criticism as is.

I don't like his style either, but Trouble could teach Markz about good writing style. At any rate I don't care how much people write as long as they clearly state that their impressions are just impressions.

If they want to promote them to facts they have to bring some data. Such is life for dishonest narcissistic people such as ourselves.

I like the way Trouble writes, I like the way Markz writes, and I think you shouldn't talk about them- talk to them if you'd like.

And weite what you want and don't listen if you feel they're knocking you.
