

just joined gye

Posted by icandoanything - 17 May 2017 19:28

Hi,

Don't feel like writing cuz it's making me feel very vulnerable but I guess I should do it. I struggled with acting out from my early teens until 2 years ago. (i'm about 35 years old). I'm happily married with amazing kids, but i used acting out to destress from life's regular ups and downs. so i've always had trouble finding some other way to destress. porn has also been an outlet and led to acting out. anyhow, the last 2 years i've basically been clean from porn and acting out. the last month or so, i've starting getting back to the porn a little and a couple of times acted out. i'm very upset at myself but am determined to get back on track. i will look through the gye filters to see what will work for me. also, i'd like to stop my habit of constantly surfing the web (sports, funny youtube videos) because i feel like it just eventually leads me off track. i'd like to find ways to relax without the web (reading, exercising, any other ideas?) but i have had a really hard time finding good habits which feel productive and are enjoyable enough for me to get the habits to stick.

Look forward to getting and giving help.

Shalom Aleichem. I wish you that you find what you need here, there is plenty.

As far as finding a way to distress, something that you enjoy. I struggle with that too.

There are a few factors I think:

Perhaps the acting out and watching youtube is more than just a destresser, maybe there is different reason you are not aware of that pulls you there even to just watch sports. And therefore, anything wlse you try for a distresser would be futile.

Or maybe it is not regular stress, maybe it is to high stress and therefore you need a stronger destresser than say just reading a book.

Maybe it's an addiction.

Or maybe since your stimulus threshold is so high, meaning the stimuli you get from what you are doing is so high that any stimuli lower than that doesn't even stimulate you.

This will be something you will need to find out on your own.

You came to a good healthy place. Here you will read many ideas others have used to iyh recover and break free. I used acting out as my anti anxiety medication until it was entrenched as a bad habit. BH thanks to GYE and its many departments, along with the forum chevra, I am where I am today. Keep posting. Its very therapeutic. Hatzlocha!

Welcome! What other things can you do to destress? Perhaps make a list. Exercise is one good one.

I like the stimulus threshold idea. Any specific advice on how to lower it? Will it get lowered over time by not spending so much time online etc. (marivo=masbio)?

Truth is I've never been part of any forums on any site before. Is there a problem with replying to the posts within this topic or do i communicate with posters a different way?

Welcome!

Keep coming back!!!

Is it beneficial to keep coming to the site when one is doing well (at a time of not much nisayon) or is it better to stay away until i need the help? In other words, does dwelling on the topic have any negative effects?
