

It's a never ending cycle

Posted by Attempt to change - 26 Jun 2017 19:30

Hello everyone!

I'm a yeshiva bochur in Israel and I've been struggling with masturbation and porn since I was a teenager. I come from a regular American religious background and I came to Israel and simple fell in love with Torah and Judaism. As a teenager I would engage in risky behavior with girls but I never sacrificed my virginity. The summer of last year found me in a deep hole. I had an iPhone and I had the temptations of a raging teenager with a ton of desires to fulfill. I was a casual porn watcher as a teenager and I wanted to take it to the next level again because I guess I missed my high school years with girls. I downloaded a few dating apps and I started to get involved with girls weekly and having sexual contact. I still maintained my virginity although risking it on countless occasions. Came Elul and I wanted to change again so I got an old iPhone with limited access to these apps. I was clean until Pesach. When I came back to Israel, I was raging again with temptation. I had a new iPhone and got involved in the apps again. I started seeing women and last week I got an apartment and I invited a girl over. That night I lost my virginity to much regret. The next morning the girl left and I invited another girl because I seemingly felt I already did the worst so I might as well just go all the way now. We slept together all morning and parted ways. On the way back to yeshiva I felt that my life is just hopeless, there's nothing to be done anymore about it. I just will simply give into this temptation and let it be because I tried before and it failed numerous times. I met the girl again a few days later and we did it in a bathroom. I just felt deeply engrossed in my desires to even put a second thought as to what I'm doing right now. Above that, I got back into porn to fulfill my desires when I'm not sleeping with women. At this point, as I'm still engrossed in my desires, I just feel there's no hope and I'll just continue this destructive behavior. I simply don't know who to turn to because it's obviously shameful to approach a rebbe or friend about it.

Belmont4175,,,,, what are you saying ?

This bochur shouldn't get married and have sex until he cures his lust ?

Thats what i was told. I was going to start dating almost a year ago and my sponsor and my Rabbi agreed that i should wait until i become sober and start to recover. I am very grateful that i didnt start dating yet. I am just over a year sober and i am just starting to see my character defects and the underlying reasons why i act out and deal with them like a responsible person and not just escape to lust

Mr Sheleg,

You said you haven't had much sex, but that sounds like some. Is that correct?

Also, you sound so puzzled that he shouldn't get married till he recovers. Would you tell a drug addict to get married before he recovers?

Workingguy,,,

that is correct.

years ago I had some.

I stopped when I realized that forbidden relationships don't last.

Why don't they last?

Since you are the resident Marriage expert and Torah scholar as proven from your extensive posts, you should have at least 2 answers up your sleeve

workingguy,,,

a question like that would scare her off.

Instead I would seek to know if she was a lusty lady in a round about way.

The mishna in avos says light headed talk brings one to lust.

So i would keep talking until I find the answer to that question.
