Welcome friend. You're in the right place for support.

Have you checked out the handbook? There's a lot of advice and tips in there, that's a good place to start to see what works for you.

Keep posting, even if it's hard to express yourself just try to be honest and open. No one here will judge you and the more you share the more you will be helped.

Hi LL. Welcome!

Is it just masturbation? Is there porn involved? How frequent? etc.

Hatzlocha on your journey!

Welcome. I find it difficult to open up to total strangers. I did open up in a private chat with someone, and told everything to that person. I found it very liberating to finally open up and get it off my chest.

If you can't open up in a public forum, do so in private with someone. There are people here with whom you can send emails back and forth, and even some who will provide phone numbers! Take advantage of such an offer!

The more you do reveal on these forums, the more people will be able to offer suggestions and tips.
