p.s. being that im the paranoid sort, anyone who feels theyve cracked my identity should please have the decency to not mention it to me (as much as it goes without saying)

First of all, welcome to GYE, there's lots of great people here to connect to & material to read, download etc. Keep coming back.

Tzveitintz, that was an awesome share; not odd at all! You do a great job describing your feelings, and I must say it certainly takes a ??? to realize that not necessarily were things happening exactly the way they remembered them as a 6 year old.

I relate to a lot of what you wrote... I also started very young & I also get carpal tunnel from typing too much.

Keep on journaling, you should be ???? to find much help here, as well as to be ???? others!

wow, that sucks. just lost my whole post. lets try again.

dunno how to reply to just one part so this is in regards to "i relate to alot of what you wrote... i also...& i also get carpal tunnel from typing to much"

thank you hashem, and thank you for your shaliach EscapeArtist. i literally lol every time i think of that line!

today was a hard day for me. got hit with the lonely/who cares anyway/its not that terrible/dejected feeling, and coupled with being stressed out/hungry/no coffee, like i said, hard day.

i got in to the shower 90% sure of what would happen, when hashem let me remember your line. i burst out laughing and that gave me the push (somehow) to decide to try my hardest to pull through.

dude, thank you.

no clue what a karma point is, but, "click"

I liked how express your escapades and find the humor in it. How are you doing?
