

Wake Sleepy up!

Posted by sleepy - 12 Aug 2019 16:24

Hi everyone! I've been a fan of gye for a long time ,I've decided to join the crew and wake up from my slumber which has been induced on me and us by the decadent society around us. I'm here to give and get chizuk in a Torah sourced way. A Talmid Chacham advised me personally not to do the 12 steps(thats his personal advice to ME,whoever was advised to use it by Daas Torah ,KOL HAKAVOD!) B"H I've had a streak of clean days, and I feel joining such a chashuva chabura will help out. Hatzlacha to all!

excerpts from stillgoings post:

Is this for real? You want to "protect your values"? You need to call her a "disgusting Sleepy "or" rashanta " or "prutza"

Not necessarily all three at once

because otherwise it will "dent my feelings of tzniyos"?

We are very impressionable, and yes I may have looked at worse things , but just because I ate garlic should i eat some more? When I was under an attack by lust, my mind wasnt working to shoot at what I was seeing, oh disgusting,prutza, rashanta, but when im in the street and NOT in a lust mode and I see someone waking up my lust which I dont want, by her I(I dont want to trigger anyone with details)triggering mode of wear ,ill shoot her mentally and instead of ogling over her ill mentally put her in her place , "nothing to admire over there, just a person acting like an animal/beheima dont demean yourself and look or even think about her shes just a low prutza (too sharp for you? Sorry someone who dresses bipritztes is a prutza)

Rashanta. (Too sharp? Well tzadeikis shes not , a beinenei perhaps? Perhaps but lets not forget im not recquired to dan her likaf zechus, so dont be angry at me if i dont give the benefit of the when al pi Torah im not michuyav, lets not make a new Torah here, so I threw a label of reshanta at her, big deal)

Disgusting? Yes, someone who dresses that way is disgusting and to show that im not a hypocrite ill admit that if I walk around in my underwear I am disgusting, ok?

Does she masterbate? Maybe

What about fantasize about you? No , im not anything to write home about, but im sure she has her not appropriate thoughts, excuse me for saying this but her way of living without a Torah and upbringing in coed situations I doubt she has her "innocence ""ich red nisht vegem a yid""ein ani midaber al isha yisra'elis"

Maybe a little pornography? Maybe.

Who are we fooling? Let's get real about who we are and stop pointing fingers at others! That lady probably has serious modesty issues, but how can we be "holier than thou'.No one is holier than thou, shes a rashanta, prutza , disgusting and im a blankety blank blank, will I gain anything by calling myself that no, will I gain anything by calling her that ? Yes, I will lose my desire to look at her Why should i look at such a person?

Let's look in the mirror for once and call a spade a spade by recognizing that we have work to do in cleaning up ourselves without shifting the blame to others.For those that it works for, kol hakavod, but for those who cleaning ourselves up WITH shifting the blame go for it also.(wow how did this end up like this)

If this won't wake up the sleepin' bear, there ain't nothin' that will!

At the risk of pushing to long (I probably past that already) I still maintain that if we're busy pointing at others, we avoid having to point at ourselves. It's painful to really admit what we do. I never thought that I avoided my problems - I spent years on gye- but when I told my wife the whole megillah, the painful truth started to sink in.

For me, real recovery began when I admitted and focused fully on my own shortcomings...

Unfortunately many of us bear sleepin' pills. Each to his own - Me too :-(

My, to try and respond to each point, I just put my thoughts in blue print in between yours.

Not necessarily all three at once

because otherwise it will "dent my feelings of tzniyos"?

We are very impressionable, and yes I may have looked at worse things, (may have? Is this something that you're not sure about?) but just because I ate garlic should i eat some more? (Did someone suggest that you take in more lust?) ake I was under an attack by lust, my mind wasnt working to shoot at what I was seeing, oh disgusting,prutza, rashanta, but when im in the street and NOT in a lust mode and I see someone waking up my lust which I dont want, by her I(I dont want to trigger anyone with details)triggering mode of wear ,ill shoot her mentally and instead of ogling over her ill mentally put her in her place ,"nothing to admire over there, just a person acting like an animal/beheima (if it's stirring our lust- I guess we enjoy beheimas. what does that say about us?) dont demean yourself and look or even think about her shes just a low prutza(if it makes you feel higher by putting down others, go ahead) (too sharp for you? Sorry someone who dresses bipritztes is a prutza) (not too sharp for me. It may be true, but I'm not her father. I don't care if she's a prutza or a pizza. I care what I am)

Rashanta. (Too sharp? Well tzadeikis shes not , a beinenei perhaps? (Again, I dont care what she is. I care what I am) ar Per but lets not forget im not recquired to dan her likaf zechus, so dont be angry at me if i dont give the benefit of the when al pi Torah im not michuyav, lets not make a new Torah here, (huh? I missed that one) so I threw a label of reshanta at her, big deal) (funny, how I don't hear Rav Chaim Kanievsky throwing the label rishanta as no big deal.)

Disgusting? Yes, someone who dresses that way is disgusting and to show that im not a hypocrite ill admit that if I walk around in my underwear I am disgusting, ok? (I'm assuming that you don't do that. What about the things that you do do? Are they disgusting? Does that make you dis... too?)

Does she masterbate? Maybe (how would you know that? Um- don't answer that please)

What about fantasize about you?No , im not anything to write home about, but im sure she has her not appropriate thoughts, (i think you'd be very surprised to learn that not everyone is as you assume then to be...) excuse me for saying this but her way of living without a Torah and upbringing in coed situations I doubt she has her "innocence ""ich red nisht vegen a yid""ein ani midaber al isha yisra'elis"

Maybe a little pornography?Maybe.

Is someone ashamed to face what they do?) will I gain anything by calling myself that no, will I gain anything by calling her that ? (Quite the opposite. By calling yourself that you will gain a real awareness of exactly what your challenge is, and we can hardly expect to fix it if we won't even say what it is. And by calling her those names, you are actually loosing out on an opportunity to better myself by facing my problems.) Yes, I will lose my desire to look at her Why should i look at such a person? (Same reason we looked at her when she was displayed on a screen (with a lot more pritzuskite I may add))

Let's look in the mirror for once and call a spade a spade by recognizing that we have work to do in cleaning up ourselves without shifting the blame to others.For those that it works for, kol hakavod, but for those who cleaning ourselves up WITH shifting the blame go for it also. (I do hear that point. So, is it working with Long term sobriety?) (wow how did this end up like this) (same way any two chavrusas fight over the sugya. Wanna go for pritzas, I mean pizza?)

Why the comparison of lusting to garlic ?

Garlic has many wonderful positive uses , and could be an additional shmira of getting to close to strange women.

It's been a while since a thread has generated such activity. Wow!

To clarify what I wrote previously: Obviously the best thing is to avoid seeing things in the first place. Some may disagree with what I suggest, but for me what has worked best is avoidance. I stay away from certain stores, and if I must go to one of them it will be at the least populated hours. In the street I slip my glasses down on my nose a bit, so I am simply not seeing all that the street has to offer. Obviously when driving this is not available. At a chasuna I stay away from the women's shmorg. I enter the chupa room when everyone is seated and exit after the crowds have basically left. Likewise, a little planning in advance of a trip to the airport, hotel, etc. can spare one loads of agmas nefesh.

If I do notice someone dressed immodestly, I bh have trained myself to look away immediately. Personally I do not get triggered by what you refer to as "prutzos". I actually usually find them nauseatingly disgusting (excuse my language - but many times they are simply a shame to the human race!). However I look away because that is what Hashem wants us to do - not look at ervah, and scantily clad people are revealing areas of the body that Chazal classify as ervah.

On the occasion that I saw something triggering - whether "prutza" or more often, a frum tzniusdik beautiful woman - and I looked away, but for some reason I cant shake the thought, that is where the "prayer" comes in. I need at that point to separate myself from her completely. For me (and many others) saying a tfilah for her at that point jarringly reminds me she is a person, not my toy/object and she is off limits. For me it works and kills the image/thought.

I hope this clarifies my previous post. But I learned long ago, that we all think differently, so if anyone disagrees, let the fun continue. Hatzlocha to all!

Hey everyone, this is so amazing. I'm so happy to see so many people waking up.

Here's how I was able to stop watching the poronos.

I did some research and it turns out that alot of the woman who do this for a living are rape and molestation victims, so essentially every time you jeerk off to them you are feeding this rape cycle. These are runway models addicted to drugs and addicted to the trauma addicted to this lifestyle. How can you knowingly participate in rape?? Sorry for the grammar and all that. Just wanted to get that out there. It was easy for me to stop once my perspective on the people involved changed.

Bless up and be strong, if I can stop so can u.

Ps, the movies and TV shows you watch, are written and cast by literal Wizards and witches who cast spells to keep us all in a trance. So break the spell and stop the cycle and live a life free of the news and the media and the pornos. Because that will break the fear spell and the dispare spell.
