

Make it to Yeshiva

Posted by YeshivaGuy - 04 Aug 2020 05:33

Hi everyone,

First I want to say that I am humbled and honored to be in the presence of such Giborei Koach, true warriors of Hakadosh Baruch Hu.

I bh am not addicted to pornography.

I haven't been on a porn website.

But I'm getting close, and I'm here to gain chizuk not to fall into it.

Once I return to Yeshiva I'm safe, but as long as I'm home I'm in danger, and bh I haven't fallen into pornography. However it's the next step, chalila.

I bh am running a camp, so I started keeping busy, so bh have only been nichshal once in the last 3 weeks.

i want to just express my gratitude to all of you, and my great admiration for each and every one of you.

My Yetzer tries telling me "comon, porn can't be that bad, it's just the word that sounds scary" or like "it can't be so different than YouTube videos"

So I'm here to gain that chizuk.

thank you!

=====

YG,

Your "vomit" is music to our ears.

?You are a leibidike mesilas yesharim, and an integral part of many lives.

Stay strong, bro.

Hope you all are well.

Good luck

Ps. I broke a streak of around 80 days with no bad vids a few days ago. Back on the bandwagon though.

Great to hear from you YeshivaGuy. I hope the challenging situations you are going through are starting to improve. Wishing you much success in Torah, Kedusha, Health, Happiness, and everything else.

P.S. Maybe you could figure out how to drag Grant back

Thank you very very much.

In the "situation," things have gotten worse but that's progress- learning to feel past pain etc...

I can discuss more on PM whoever wants.

For whatever reason I've been in a hotel room myself since yesterday, and didn't realize the prob of the tv...

Cumulatively I watched movies with porn in it for like 7/8 hours...

I stopped watching last night after the movie stopped and exited out somehow. Bh I took it as God saying "I give a damn about you" (pardon my French) so that's good.

Pretty insane and scary how such explicit stuff barely even gave me an erection...

Was first time having my own hotel room so never thought of that. I gotta figure out how to avoid this problem in the future.

Whoever has experienced this and has an eitzah, please lmk.

Anyway, trying to not let it get me down and to move on and enjoy this miny vacation.

Good Shabbos,

YeshivaGuy

Was feeling a lot of anger/anxiety this evening, a gaping hole in my heart getting ever deeper by the moment.

Tried calming down etc, didn't work.

Saw bad gifs/masterbated.

I just want to feel good when I feel so so bad.

I hope to find a good group therapy to fill that void.

Layers and layers of tumas keri has drowned this miserable frail shadow of a man.

Only silence is heard.

For silence is all that I can say.

Sleeping now to numb the pain that I don't feel, only to greet another day of false salvation and hope.

Enjoy your life,

Gn

You write beautifully tzaddik. I hope your ability to express yourself so poetically and articulately relieves some of the pain. May Hashem grant you menuchas hanefesh. May you greet a glorious sunrise of a day full of hope promise and salvation.

I feel your pain, and yes, you write well. Though I can't speak to the other pain in your life you often refer to, in regards to the tumas keri that has "drowned you" perhaps there's another perspective. Shlomo Hamelech describes Klal Yisroel's plea when they are accused of being sinful as ?? ?????? ???? ??????? ??????? ???? - our ????? are a mere suntan - and by standing in the shade we return to our essence - our white, clean selves. So, perhaps, there are layers of Tumas Keri, but underneath it all is a purity that we've all seen in your incredible holy fight. And when you step out into the shade (as you have) then your strength, confidence and purity can be seen more clearly. But it is there, and it is you, regardless.

So, besides for greeting the sunrise as HHM wished you, may you merit to stand in the shade, so you can see your true self, as well.

Hatzlocha!

Hang in there!

B"H it's Chanukah where those who are "Temeim Beyad" become "Tehorim." And those who became "Reshaim Beyad" become "Tzadikim."

Stare into the light of the menorah because even a little bit of light can be docheh harbei choshech.

A Freilichin Chanukah!

I don't think it's fair to call someone a temeiyad or rosho byad it feels much better to be called hero and tzaddik.

I'm not saying he's either. I'm just saying lets not pass judgment. Would it be ok to call an autistic person who is mechalel Shabbos a mumer? I'm not advocating for saying we're all not responsible and it's totally but at the same time doesn't mean we have to call people reshoim or temei'im

Thank you.

The struggle though is, that there is a part of myself that harbors great disdain for these "tzadikim," and wants to stay very far away from them and what they represent.

A large part of myself wants the harbei choshech to be docheh any last remnant of ???, and leave me to a life estranged from the creator.

And this real part of myself is disgusted by chanuka and can barely lay its eyes on the neiros for an instant.

Good thing I'm going to therapy tomorrow
