

Make it to Yeshiva

Posted by YeshivaGuy - 04 Aug 2020 05:33

Hi everyone,

First I want to say that I am humbled and honored to be in the presence of such Giborei Koach, true warriors of Hakadosh Baruch Hu.

I bh am not addicted to pornography.

I haven't been on a porn website.

But I'm getting close, and I'm here to gain chizuk not to fall into it.

Once I return to Yeshiva I'm safe, but as long as I'm home I'm in danger, and bh I haven't fallen into pornography. However it's the next step, chalila.

I bh am running a camp, so I started keeping busy, so bh have only been nichshal once in the last 3 weeks.

i want to just express my gratitude to all of you, and my great admiration for each and every one of you.

My Yetzer tries telling me "comon, porn can't be that bad, it's just the word that sounds scary" or like "it can't be so different than YouTube videos"

So I'm here to gain that chizuk.

thank you!

Awesome! Wow! No Uch... you should be mighty proud of yourself! What a gevureh! You did it!
Past a massive nisoyoin! Hashem is proud of you, and you know it! Make sure to give an extra dance purim, for this success!

Idk, anyway, she'll text me back at some point, so I'll have to delete it again.

I can't block it cuz then my phone saves the number under blocked numbers

I dont know how you should proceed, but it's a dangerous situation, when she texts back... I would say please talk to one of the experts here how to stop it right now. You dont need this. It is not who you are.

She's not the kind of person to push etc. if I delete her number again after the text back (assuming there is one) then I'm pretty sure she'll never text me

Your goal is not to conquer a life-long yetzer hora in one day! Simply putting up a fight is a tremendous accomplishment, and skipping this time, or even delaying it a little bit, is still worthwhile. There is great value and tremendous sechar for every second you are able to be omeid b'nisayon.

Let me tell you a nice story:

There was once a king who placed his daughter at the summit of a large mountain and proposed the following challenge to the inhabitants of his land: I will offer my daughter's hand in marriage to whomever is able to climb the mountain and reach the top." Many professional hikers attempted the climb, but they were all unsuccessful. Then along came an old man who could barely see, but decided nonetheless to try. He slowly made his way up, and after many weeks of arduous travel, he eventually made it to the summit, where he received the grand prize-- the princess! When the old man was asked how he was able to reach the summit after so many other hikers had failed, he answered simply, "What do you mean? It wasn't such a tall mountain! All I saw was a few feet in front of me, so I walked those few feet-- and then another few feet, until I reached the top."

The nimshal is obvious:

Take one day at a time! Your goal right now is not to stop for life; it's to push it off as much as you can.

Wow. I'm inspired by the fact that you slipped and caught yourself before it got out of hand...

Keep it up!

Ok Rabboisai, here's where things stand.

She responded.

I told her I'm taking at least a month to disconnect from texting/technology to connect to myself and to God (she's spiritual so was into it).

So told her won't be talking.

She was cool with it.

So now, she won't be texting me. I deleted her number so can't text her "when I'm ready."

Now, there is still a risk of texting me at some point down the line, that's true.

But as long as I don't respond, she'll stop and assume I'm not on WhatsApp.

She said "I hope we talk soon."

And that nearly killed me...

Anyway, this is the matzav.

Im not proud of myself.

I really took a step back here, and nearly lost it all.

The truth is that even with all the gedarim, if a person wants, they can get shmutz.

A person, especially in the Dor, is always just a few steps away from potential destruction.

There's a way for me to get back her number, by going on the site we met on (before GYE) and getting the number. And unfortunately my account can't be deleted on it.

The main thing here for me is to be ??? in Torah v'Yiras Shamayim.

Im moving on and hoping to utilize Purim to catapult me to a new Kabolah HaTorah. B'ezeras HaShem Yisborach.

The fledgling,

YeshivaGuy

@yeshivaGuy - You are doing great. It's hard. but you will realize that the fight is worth it when IM'H you get married and you've already acquired the tools and the "spiritual muscles" to fight the battle. As any of us married guys can attest, if this issue is not addressed before marriage, the problem will only exacerbate.

Had a good Purim Baruch HaShem.

Having seacond thoughts bout deleting the number, and been fantasizing a shtikl.

Trying to move forward.

Spoke to the sgan mashgiach and there's no one available for me to learn with first seder, so that's shver...

Anyway, staying strong. Been struggling with touching myself, and trying to bring my Nekudas HaBechira back higher...

Will stay b'kesher. Thank You all.
