Translation:

In honor of my close friends, righteous ones of our holy congregation:

Although it is Erev Shabbos and time is of the essence, the topic of "Name Changing " is of extreme importance, it stands at the height of the world. Therefore it cannot be left until after shabbos.

We must appoint a ????? (Lit. An "appointed one"), who will decide on how we will distribute the honors. For example, who will we honor with ????? ??? Who has the strength necessary for ????? ???????? I weigh 238.7 lbs!

My teachers, exclusively with a smile!

P.S. I did have a taiva to translate like this: Grant will get ????? ?? because of his amazing operatic capabilities, as well as ????? ?????, since he is ridiculously strong. It's brought down as well in the ????? ???????? that the person honored with said honors shall be extremely

?? ?????? ?????

"Who me?!? No! Give it to someone qualified..." says Grant as he does the practiced "humble - head bent to the side - sheepish grin - I don't deserve this" look while excitedly getting up and heading towards the front before R' (soon to be) Rebuild can actually take his suggestion and heaven forbid give the kibbudim to someone who actually is deserving...

P.S. I guess we can use a gauze pad soaked with bourbon instead of the accepted grape juice....

Don't worry guys i am not so often in such a good mood, i gues it's better than the opposite.

Moods are normal!! things happen that set us in different moods. you are fine. Moods don't define who we are. Our Neshama is what defines us. Der pintele yid is our essence, & yours is starting to shine and how. We all have so much faith in you & look forward to hearing more from you.
