

Boyfriend-girlfriend relationship

Posted by Shtarkandemotional - 01 Dec 2020 21:09

I just joined GYE a few minutes ago... I'm a very frum Jew in yeshiva and In a relationship with a very frum girl... never thought I would be posting about this but I'm here today struggling... I'm in the midst of a very meaningful and emtional relationship... can't learn as well nowadays... looking for anyone with similar challenges... can anyone relate?? About my relationship- it all happened accidentally... never thought talking to a girl for a few minutes can cause so many challenges...now It's been many months... we're both super frum and relate to each other extremely well... we share a lot a lot a lot of similarities... feels like I met my twin ... now trying not to meet in person... after meeting several times and falling with shomer negiah...can anyone relate to my situation?! Any comments ??? Please... I'm looking for I'm a very unique guy... very emotional.. and loves learning with all my heart... I'm a big learner and want to be good.... just struggling with an intense relationship... besides that sometimes very rare I do fall to porn... and to m"zl.... looking forward to hearing from you all!!!

MarkZ, that is a seriously funny line.

I once asked a Rabbi how he teaches certain sugyos in Kesubos to 9th graders. He looked at me incredulously....His answer? "The kids teach me, not the opposite!"

Good to laugh every once in a while...

I have been reading through this thread and I am amazed at your strength and resolve to do what is right. I can associate a bit with some of your feelings but I don't claim to truly understand your nisayon as we all are unique. I just want to share a thought and a small Dvar Torah that may help. My words are being said with a caring heart for a true brother. Please read it in that context.

My thought is something like this. I have read what you have written. i don't doubt for a second that you feel intense love for this special young lady. However, the level of love that you are expressing does seem more like infatuation than deep love. If you were to speak with the married men on here, most of us love our wives. However, that love is something that is cultivated over time and takes real work. Love that is full of excitement can often be brought on by something different than true love. It is romance (possibly mixed with lust). That is entirely different than true love. "Love at first sight" is not real love. This infatuation is really a huge nisayon to grapple with and as i said i am extremely impressed with your strength. You truly inspire me.

Yaakov worked 7 years to marry Rochel. It says that it was in his eyes like a few days because he loved her so much. That is very strange. If I love to eat a hot dog and I have to wait an hour to eat it for some reason, I wouldn't say it felt like a few minutes because I love hot dogs so much. I would say it felt like forever because I love hot dogs so much. What does this mean? The answer is (Sorry, I don't remember the source) that when it says Yaakov loved her it wasn't the way we use that word. It meant that he appreciated her greatness and was machshiv her. He loved "her" not what he could get from her. Therefore, it felt like he got a metzia! He only has to work 7 years to marry this great lady! That's why it says it felt like a few days. This is real true love that we are all striving for. No, we are not there yet, but at least it is a goal to keep in mind.

I wish you all the Hatzlocha in the world and I thank you for the inspiration you have provided me in my nisyonos.

Achecha,

Lou
