Welcome to the team—we have all been there before and felt that way. I myself am trying to break through from a 15 year struggle and Baruch Hashem I am managing to break through with the help of g-d and all the wonderful people on this site (you can see my story on my thread, which is in my signature...). I encourage you to post about a little about yourself and to shop around the forum to see all the great content! I don't know your story, but i can pretty much guarantee that there have been people on this site that have been in worse positions than you and they have managed to break free. So there is no need to give up hope!! By the fact that you came onto this site and posted shows that you are really serious about trying to make a change, which is a huge step in the right direction!! So, look around, post about yourself (after all it's anonymous), and we hope to hear great things from you!

Welcome. Can you provide more background information? What have you tried? What's your story?

Success is NOT what counts, it's effort.
