Does anyone have any experience with a SA group or a SMART recovery group? Whats the difference? Which one is better?

My wife has no clue I am acting out all day, she thinks I'm learning all day!!

In reality I watch girls f*ck all day and night!!!!

I also go for teenage boys and girls which I am very ashamed about.

I have a lot of guilt being attracted to teen boys. I stare at them in the mikvah. I stare at they're dicks to see how big it is. I feel so sick!!!!

If people only knew my double life!!!!!!!!!!!!

I bought a telegram account with unlimited access to porn, with new porn being constantly updated.

I want it so badly!!!! It makes me feel so good, It takes away any pain I have.

When does someone know if GYE is for him and when does he need SA?

Also, is gye for everyone who struggles, even if its just a bit? maybe its normal for males to masturbate a bit?

This is bein' written as a moderator.

This behavior is dangerous and illegal.

I am sorry for what you are goin' through; please find appropriate real help; not an anonymous forum.

Relief perhaps you can call.

Find a therapist please.

Godspeed to you.

12-step support groups are helpful to people who are trying to overcome an unhealthy addiction or dependence on substances. They give people who have similar problems a way to share their experience, strength and hope with each other. The actual "twelve steps" are principles for living. The original 12-step group is Alcoholics Anonymous (AA).

SMART Recovery is a science-based approach to overcoming addiction. Different from the familiar format of the 12-steps, SMART Recovery emphasizes focus on what the person themselves can accomplish, rather than turning the ability to overcome addiction over to the influence of a higher power. Many people feel more relaxed and comfortable with the program's secular design and self-empowering approach.

It's not a matter of "better or worse". The main thing is the persons commitment to working a program and being accountable for his actions.

Welcome, my friend! We are here to hear you out and be there for you in your journey! Don't disappear, stick around and beH you'll be ok

Yes, GYE is for everyone who struggles, even just a bit. Some masturbation might be normal, I don't know, but as frum Jews we have to know whether they are permitted, not whether it's normal. Masturbating, even a little, is assur.

How do you know whether you need SA or whether it will help you? Speak to someone who understands. There are people who run this place and are mentors, they can direct you to the specific type of things that will help you best. Contact them and they will guide you as to how you can get the best help. And help is needed. You can get out of this with the right type of help! Many people have been in similar places and are recovered now. If you need more info on how to reach them, PM me. Hatzlacha!
