

Bi Bocher about to get married

Posted by Zag xx - 06 Jun 2023 17:15

---

Hi all I'm in my mid 20s and I'm getting married in 2 months. I was sexually abused when I was 13, and I've had plenty of trauma therapy in the past. I'm in a relatively healthy place right now, but I've had many years of struggles. I also know I'm more attracted to men than to women, and I'm really nervous about what to do in marriage. I'm in yeshiva and have an excellent support of rebbayim and friends. I'm also bh very gifted in learning and I absolutely love Torah. I've however over the years had a number of sexual encounters with friends, and I'm worried about what I should do if I ever find myself struggling in marriage. I want to make marriage work and I AM attracted to my kalla, but I know these feelings won't just go away. I'm currently speaking to people (rabbayim/therapist) pre marriage. I just need all the advice and disatisa dishmaya I can get. Thanks all

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married

Posted by Eerie - 09 Jun 2023 15:34

---

Hi there all my holy brothers and friends at GYE. If I can share a few thoughts here on Zag's thread

I have thought a lot about some of the arguments that got a little heated here in the past, and I would like to share my thoughts. Respecting someone's opinion means we don't have to keep repeating and proving our point until they agree. We may and will disagree. But perhaps we should keep the following things in mind.

A) Never use terms or words that are hurtful. Never put down anyone, by saying or hinting that they are deficient in any which way that makes them incapable of having an opinion

B ) Keep it cool. take a deep breath. The world is not coming to an end because of someone's post or disagreement with us

C) If a question is posed by someone, and we answer, with some of us answering one way and some differently, it is not necessary to argue at all. We may respectfully ask someone why they wrote something, but it is probably better not to. If we do, whatever they answer ends the discussion. Don't argue continuously.

D) If someone writes something, we may disagree, and we may write it. If someone argues with something that we have written and we feel like we can clarify and add something, we should limit ourselves to one answer. No continuing to bring proofs etc.

E) I would add that if we feel the need to express our opinion in more detail, but we don't want to make a whole fuss, just start your own thread.

Thank you dear holy brothers for allowing me to join your special family!

=====

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by richtig - 09 Jun 2023 16:03

---

Eerie wrote on 09 Jun 2023 15:34:

Hi there all my holy brothers and friends at GYE. If I can share a few thoughts here on Zag's thread

I have thought a lot about some of the arguments that got a little heated here in the past, and I would like to share my thoughts. Respecting someone's opinion means we don't have to keep repeating and proving our point until they agree. We may and will disagree. But perhaps we should keep the following things in mind.

A) Never use terms or words that are hurtful. Never put down anyone, by saying or hinting that they are deficient in any which way that makes them incapable of having an opinion

B ) Keep it cool. take a deep breath. The world is not coming to an end because of someone's post or disagreement with us

C) If a question is posed by someone, and we answer, with some of us answering one way and some differently, it is not necessary to argue at all. We may respectfully ask someone why they wrote something, but it is probably better not to. If we do, whatever they answer ends the discussion. Don't argue continuously.

D) If someone writes something, we may disagree, and we may write it. If someone argues with something that we have written and we feel like we can clarify and add something, we should limit ourselves to one answer. No continuing to bring proofs etc.

E) I would add that if we feel the need to express our opinion in more detail, but we don't want to make a whole fuss, just start your own thread.

Thank you dear holy brothers for allowing me to join your special family!

=====

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by willdoit - 09 Jun 2023 16:18

---

Trying99 wrote on 08 Jun 2023 01:08:

willdoit wrote on 07 Jun 2023 21:53:

Its astonishing that people throw advice:

To someone they don't know, about a situation they don't know...

This is not a game. Its @Zag xx's life!

He literally asked for advice.

Thanks Eerie for putting it so well. That's exactly why I did not respond to the above, even

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by true_self - 09 Jun 2023 16:33

---

willdoit wrote on 09 Jun 2023 16:18:

Trying99 wrote on 08 Jun 2023 01:08:

willdoit wrote on 07 Jun 2023 21:53:

Its astonishing that people throw advice:

To someone they don't know, about a situation they don't know...

This is not a game. Its @Zag xx's life!

He literally asked for advice.

Thanks Eerie for putting it so well. That's exactly why I did not respond to the above, even though I had what to say.. wsnt easy

Me too.

Thanks Eerie.

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by cordnoy - 11 Jun 2023 03:54

---

I was thinkin'....

He's takin' his Rabbi's advice and that is perfect by me, as I've said, he should speak to and follow those who know him best.

I had mentioned that my personal feelin's were that somethin' like this should be disclosed, but after some thought, and after readin' some stuff someplace, I began to think that the distinction I was makin' in my mind was a product of my addiction.

Explanation: Those of us with heterosexual addictions, we think that after 30 days of bein' clean, or 90 days, or a year, we can get married and no disclosure is necessary. Really? We are very likely to make our wives miserable, like I did, even if we don't end up actin' on our addictions or desires or cravin's. Is that fair to her? Shouldn't she know beforehand what she's gettin' herself into, and of course, all of the stuff we may do outside of marriage and perhaps even bring diseases into the house.

Then, there can be a fellow who has homosexual tendencies. He has never acted out with another, but those are his feelin's. We jump on him that he should disclose, for the intimacy will be hell for his wife. Really? Dov's wife used to say: You guys make sex into much more than it really is. Here can be a guy who's life is somewhat under control; scantily-clad women don't excite him, newest style shaitels and clothin' worn by all the other wives don't turn him on. Will there be fireworks in the bedroom? probably not. Will his wife be comforted, hugged, loved? Good chance. Will he bother her incessantly about how to dress or undress? Nope. Will the sex be good for her? Very possibly.

Again, I don't know the answer (to the question that this particular fellow never even asked here), but it got me thinkin', and for that I say: Godbless!

=====

====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Markz - 11 Jun 2023 05:13

---

cordnoy wrote on 11 Jun 2023 03:54:

I was thinkin'....

He's takin' his Rabbi's advice and that is perfect by me, as I've said, he should speak to and follow those who know him best...

Then, there can be a fellow who has homosexual tendencies. He has never acted out with another, but those are his feelin's...

That's clearly not the case for our dear friend who authored this tread.

Am I missing something here?

=====

====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Zag xx - 11 Jun 2023 20:10

---

Hi all hope your all well. I was considering deleting this thread as I think I've heard what I needed to hear. However a number of people pm me and thanked me for things I had said and for other things on this forum. I really hope everyone gets the help they need. If anyone wants to pm me feel free. Ps I spent the day in teveria and I davened at reebi meir rebbi akiva and the ramchal. BH I'm in a much better headspace than I was last week. Hatzlocha all.

ps I'm not a rabbi I can give advice based on the best of my ability, but the best advice I can give you all is to try and strengthen your connection to G-D

=====

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by jackthejew - 12 Jun 2023 09:50

---

Eerie wrote on 09 Jun 2023 15:34:

Hi there all my holy brothers and friends at GYE. If I can share a few thoughts here on Zag's thread

I have thought a lot about some of the arguments that got a little heated here in the past, and I would like to share my thoughts. Respecting someone's opinion means we don't have to keep repeating and proving our point until they agree. We may and will disagree. But perhaps we should keep the following things in mind.

A) Never use terms or words that are hurtful. Never put down anyone, by saying or hinting that they are deficient in any which way that makes them incapable of having an opinion

B ) Keep it cool. take a deep breath. The world is not coming to an end because of someone's post or disagreement with us

C) If a question is posed by someone, and we answer, with some of us answering one way and some differently, it is not necessary to argue at all. We may respectfully ask someone why they wrote something, but it is probably better not to. If we do, whatever they answer ends the discussion. Don't argue continuously.

D) If someone writes something, we may disagree, and we may write it. If someone argues with something that we have written and we feel like we can clarify and add something, we should limit ourselves to one answer. No continuing to bring proofs etc.

E) I would add that if we feel the need to express our opinion in more detail, but we don't want to make a whole fuss, just start your own thread.

Thank you dear holy brothers for allowing me to join your special family!

I haven't been by in a while, but I'd like to add my couple of cents. When I look back at my posts from when I joined, I'm reminded of Country Yossi's song "Somday when You're older and much wiser, You'll realize how much you don't know." Baruch Hashem I continue to grow in prespective with the guidance of the amazing mentors, Rabbeim, and friends I made both on this platform and in real life. This is not to Chas V'shalom put down anyone or their legitimate opinion, but rather to encourage people: If you see something that doesn't seem right to you, especially from an experienced guy on the forum, please don't hesitate to ask. Like R' Eerie says, no need to hijack the thread (Yes, I know what I'm doing here...), but there's a way to ask. We are all here because we want to grow and become better Oivdei Hashem. If you're not comfortable asking in public, PM. The mentors here have a wealth of experience and have probably forgotten a lot more Toirah then I've learnt. So please, reach out, no need for personal attacks. 1 more post BE"H elsewhere, and then back to hibernation.

In the immortal words of Rabbi Baruch Ber Yoffe in the Yated Shidduch Forum...

Kol Tuv.

=====
=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Eerie - 12 Jun 2023 23:09

---

Oh wow, look who stopped by! So nice to see you...although by now you are probably back in your cave....

=====
=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Zag xx - 19 Sep 2023 15:28

---

Hi all. It's been a couple of months since I last posted and I wanted to share a few things. Unfortunately the wedding was called off for unrelated reasons. I've been really struggling mentally (suicidal) and I don't know what to do any more. Been in intense therapy but feel like giving up. I need lots of teffilos.

=====
=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by true_self - 19 Sep 2023 15:55

---

Zag xx wrote on 19 Sep 2023 15:28:

Hi all. It's been a couple of months since I last posted and I wanted to share a few things. Unfortunately the wedding was called off for unrelated reasons. I've been really struggling mentally (suicidal) and I don't know what to do any more. Been in intense therapy but feel like giving up. I need lots of tefillos.

I feel your pain. and have no words to add but tefillos.

Thinking of you and wishing you all yeshuos that you need bekarov!!! Enough pain for klal yisroel!

May we only share good news.

=====
=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Ki Sorisa - 19 Sep 2023 18:36

---

Zag xx wrote on 19 Sep 2023 15:28:

Hi all. It's been a couple of months since I last posted and I wanted to share a few things. Unfortunately the wedding was called off for unrelated reasons. I've been really struggling mentally (suicidal) and I don't know what to do any more. Been in intense therapy but feel like giving up. I need lots of tefillos.

My heart breaks for you dear brother

=====
=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by bright - 19 Sep 2023 18:41

---

Ki Sorisa wrote on 19 Sep 2023 18:36:

Zag xx wrote on 19 Sep 2023 15:28:

Hi all. It's been a couple of months since I last posted and I wanted to share a few things. Unfortunately the wedding was called off for unrelated reasons. I've been really struggling mentally (suicidal) and I don't know what to do any more. Been in intense therapy but feel like giving up. I need lots of teffilos.

My heart breaks for you dear brother

Same. I feel so bad for you! Please dont give up, you are so amazing. From the darkest blackness come the brightest lights!

=====

Re: Bi Bocher about to get married
Posted by Yeshayahu 41:6 - 19 Sep 2023 23:05

---

No words....here is a hug and many tears

=====