

Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by iwannalivereal - 17 Oct 2023 01:44

So... after lurking around a while I decided to introduce myself so as to be able to celebrate 2 new milestones that I just reached.

I'm a 27 year old yungerman learning in bmg, and I've been struggling with porn and masturbation since I was 12 when I discovered pornography on my parents' (then) unfiltered computer. Since then I've been "doing the cycle", I fall, then I get up with a new stronger kabbalah, and then I fall once again. Throughout my years in yeshiva I had access only when at home during bein hazmanim, and so I would go months during the zman only to fall again, sometimes more, sometimes less soon after I got home. I remember coming home after learning in EY for an amazing year only to fall within a few days.

In the past year or so my struggle seemed to almost explode and pushed me to do more and more to get what I "needed". I went from filter to filter, plugging up loopholes only to find newer and better ways around them.

I have had an account on GYE for quite a while, but somehow never managed to figure out how to get the most out of it and to try to give stopping a real hard try. Around Rosh Hashana time I decided to try again with two new things I had never tried before.

The first thing I did was try to get to know some GYE guys by speaking to them on the phone, and wow what a tool. Somehow even with GYE having more than 15 thousand users, until you shmooz around with someone on the phone it's hard to believe that there are real live people struggling with the same things I'm struggling with. It's also incredibly satisfying to be able to just say your life story to someone on a phone, to be able to get it out of your system a bit which is way better than just typing the story into a computer. And as a cherry on top to this, I was zoche to meet Vehkam in person, which for anyone following his thread knows how much of a hero and role model he is in this struggle. Meeting someone like that, seeing his face, shaking his hand were so absolutely incredible - I'm still on a high from that 10 minute meeting.

The second thing I did was finally listen to all those people (especially vehkam) screaming about reading the battle of the generation book. Although I had looked at it in the past, after noticing the amount of pages (almost 400) I'd "have to go through " to get to the finish line, I never made it past page 1. This time I really delved into it and boy was I in for a surprise when time after time the author described just how I was feeling and how to deal with them. The hardest part of the struggle for me had always been motivation, as although I have a nice long list of reasons not to watch porn, I never was able to feel it inside of me, and never had a strong feeling to not act out. Any time that I managed to not watch porn did not feel especially good or exciting, rather it was a missed out opportunity to have an awesome time. Reading how the author describes just this point and has pages and pages dedicated to how to change a person's mindset to be excited to fight and overcome desire has been a real game changer for me. I never would've thought that I'd actually want to win more than wanting to enjoy.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by chosemyshem - 23 Aug 2024 13:40

eerie wrote on 23 Aug 2024 02:43:

And I'll be the first to say that I need to be extra careful that what people share with me is between myself and that person, and just because we share super close friends who discuss seriously super crazy private things, that doesn't allow for any leeway on the privacy. It might be a little hard, but privacy is sacred.

Preach it!

I feel like people have casually mentioned in conversation part of a conversation they've had with someone else (not as gossip - something they said and the other person's response or something like that) and I don't know that the other person would want that. At the end of the day, there's a lot of deep personal stuff we share in casual conversation around here and it's all too easy to treat it as casual conversation.

Same goes for identifying information. People have the right to control whom they share their identity or identifying information with and it's not right to share that identifying information with others.

When in doubt, stay quiet.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by 138eagle - 23 Aug 2024 13:52

chosemyschem wrote on 23 Aug 2024 13:40:

eerie wrote on 23 Aug 2024 02:43:

And I'll be the first to say that I need to be extra careful that what people share with me is between myself and that person, and just because we share super close friends who discuss seriously super crazy private things, that doesn't allow for any leeway on the privacy. It might be a little hard, but privacy is sacred.

Preach it!

I feel like people have casually mentioned in conversation part of a conversation they've had with someone else (not as gossip - something they said and the other person's response or something like that) and I don't know that the other person would want that. At the end of the day, there's a lot of deep personal stuff we share in casual conversation around here and it's all too easy to treat it as casual conversation.

Same goes for identifying information. People have the right to control whom they share their identity or identifying information with and it's not right to share that identifying information with others.

When in doubt, stay quiet.

I have found the same. It would be good to be extra careful about what we share with each other.

Be careful not to share too much about yourself and what you are going through in all areas of your life. You may come to regret it down the road. Of course be careful to not share with anyone else what someone else is going through. They may want to share only with you. And be super careful of sharing any identifying details about yourself and about someone else.

The friends I have made here in the past few shorts weeks are real friends from the inside out, but there is still room for caution.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by yiftach - 23 Aug 2024 14:10

Maskim to every word!

But please! Can we get back on with the party!!!

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by redfaced - 23 Aug 2024 14:22

eerie wrote on 23 Aug 2024 02:43:

BUT, I have my own point to make, which I hope the oilam will still listen to.

Reb CO, you so well pointed out that these friendships are sacred. And the privacy of every person any one of talks to is super sacred. I just have this fear that now that we met en masse, and watched CO choke on his bagel, and shmoozed around until the pallets were delivered, figuring out if vaping is safer than smoking, debating if hugging will get our picture in the Lakewood Scoop under the crime section, there may be a feeling that talking about one guy's issues with others is ok, for we have all met together. Rabbosai, I'll be the first to say that I was on cloud 9 from the whole event. I just hope this old man didn't get IWLR in trouble. And I'll be the first to say that I need to be extra careful that what people share with me is between myself and that person, and just because we share super close friends who discuss seriously super crazy private things, that doesn't allow for any leeway on the privacy. It might be a little hard, but privacy is sacred.

Fully agreed. Rabbeinu Eerie is right that everything told to anybody has to be kept in strict confidence and not repeated at all- even if there is reason to believe that the information is already known to the other fellow

On that note, I would like to make a public apology for wishing IWLR Mazel tov. I shouldn't have been the one to publicly announce anything if he chose not to do so.

His Simcha

His Information

His Privacy.

I am sorry.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by iwannalivereal - 23 Aug 2024 14:41

Getting on with party... Or maybe going backwards to the Shalom Zachar...

About 5 minutes into my nap Friday afternoon, I was awoken by my wife. Someone just dropped off a bottle of shnapps and left a note on it with no name. No one saw when he dropped it off.

I rolled out of bed to see if I could identify the handwriting.

I didn't recognize the handwriting but I was a bit confused as to the whole commotion - the note was clearly signed! This is what it said.

??? ???! ??? ???? ???? ?"? . ???? ?? ?' ?? ????? ???? ?? ?????.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Guess not everyone knows how to read
Posted by yitach - 23 Aug 2024 14:52

iwannalivereal wrote on 23 Aug 2024 14:41:

Getting on with party... Or maybe going backwards to the Shalom Zachar...

About 5 minutes into my nap Friday afternoon, I was awoken by my wife. Someone just dropped off a bottle of shnapps and left a note on it with no name. No one saw when he dropped it off.

I rolled out of bed to see if I could identify the handwriting.

I didn't recognize the handwriting but I was a bit confused as to the whole commotion - the note was clearly signed! This is what it said.

??? ???! ??? ???? ???? ?"??. ???? ?? ?' ?? ????? ???? ?? ?????.

And that's when all the tzaros began...

but hey! It's quite similar to hanging up signs and running off!

=====
=====

My public apology

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by iwannalivereal - 23 Aug 2024 15:05

Just in case anyone reading this thought otherwise cuz of all those apologies... Every guy who came had been personally invited, and a whole bunch asked and double asked if I'm for sure comfortable with the oilam coming. No one surprised me with coming without me knowing that they were coming beforehand. Before inviting anyone I thought about for a while and decided that the risk factors were quite low, and that the chizzuk I'd get from the oilam coming was definitely worth the small risks involved.

And so it was! The story of the old man, and the story of the shnapps bottle are totally non existent in my real life anymore... the chizzuk however lives on and on!!!

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by pesachs - 23 Aug 2024 17:28

iwannalivereal wrote on 17 Oct 2023 01:44:

So... after lurking around a while I decided to introduce myself so as to be able to celebrate 2 new milestones that I just reached.

I'm a 27 year old yungerman learning in bmg, and I've been struggling with porn and masturbation since I was 12 when I discovered pornography on my parents' (then) unfiltered computer. Since then I've been "doing the cycle", I fall, then I get up with a new stronger kabbalah, and then I fall once again. Throughout my years in yeshiva I had access only when at home during bein hazmanim, and so I would go months during the zman only to fall again, sometimes more, sometimes less soon after I got home. I remember coming home after learning in EY for an amazing year only to fall within a few days.

In the past year or so my struggle seemed to almost explode and pushed me to do more and more to get what I "needed". I went from filter to filter, plugging up loopholes only to find newer and better ways around them.

I have had an account on GYE for quite a while, but somehow never managed to figure out how to get the most out of it and to try to give stopping a real hard try. Around Rosh Hashana time I decided to try again with two new things I had never tried before.

The first thing I did was try to get to know some GYE guys by speaking to them on the phone, and wow what a tool. Somehow even with GYE having more than 15 thousand users, until you shmooz around with someone on the phone it's hard to believe that there are real live people struggling with the same things I'm struggling with. It's also incredibly satisfying to be able to just say your life story to someone on a phone, to be able to get it out of your system a bit which is way better than just typing the story into a computer. And as a cherry on top to this, I was zoche to meet Vehkam in person, which for anyone following his thread knows how much of a hero and role model he is in this struggle. Meeting someone like that, seeing his face, shaking his hand were so absolutely incredible - I'm still on a high from that 10 minute meeting.

The second thing I did was finally listen to all those people (especially vehkam) screaming about reading the battle of the generation book. Although I had looked at it in the past, after noticing the amount of pages (almost 400) I'd "have to go through " to get to the finish line, I never made it past page 1. This time I really delved into it and boy was I in for a surprise when time after time the author described just how I was feeling and how to deal with them. The hardest part of the struggle for me had always been motivation, as although I have a nice long list of reasons not to watch porn, I never was able to feel it inside of me, and never had a strong feeling to not act out. Any time that I managed to not watch porn did not feel especially good or exciting, rather it was a missed out opportunity to have an awesome time. Reading how the author describes just this point and has pages and pages dedicated to how to change a person's mindset to be excited to fight and overcome desire has been a real game changer for me. I never would've thought that I'd actually want to win more than wanting to enjoy.

The battle of generation book is awesome. I've been clean 5 months

=====
====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by redfaced - 23 Aug 2024 17:31

pesachs wrote on 23 Aug 2024 17:28:

iwannalivereal wrote on 17 Oct 2023 01:44:

So... after lurking around a while I decided to introduce myself so as to be able to celebrate 2 new milestones that I just reached.

I'm a 27 year old yungerman learning in bmg, and I've been struggling with porn and masturbation since I was 12 when I discovered pornography on my parents' (then) unfiltered computer. Since then I've been "doing the cycle", I fall, then I get up with a new stronger kabbalah, and then I fall once again. Throughout my years in yeshiva I had access only when at home during bein hazmanim, and so I would go months during the zman only to fall again, sometimes more, sometimes less soon after I got home. I remember coming home after learning in EY for an amazing year only to fall within a few days.

In the past year or so my struggle seemed to almost explode and pushed me to do more and more to get what I "needed". I went from filter to filter, plugging up loopholes only to find newer and better ways around them.

I have had an account on GYE for quite a while, but somehow never managed to figure out how to get the most out of it and to try to give stopping a real hard try. Around Rosh Hashana time I decided to try again with two new things I had never tried before.

The first thing I did was try to get to know some GYE guys by speaking to them on the phone, and wow what a tool. Somehow even with GYE having more than 15 thousand users, until you shmooz around with someone on the phone it's hard to believe that there are real live people struggling with the same things I'm struggling with. It's also incredibly satisfying to be able to just say your life story to someone on a phone, to be able to get it out of your system a bit which is way better than just typing the story into a computer. And as a cherry on top to this, I was zoche to meet Vehkam in person, which for anyone following his thread knows how much of a hero and role model he is in this struggle. Meeting someone like that, seeing his face, shaking his hand were so absolutely incredible - I'm still on a high from that 10 minute meeting.

The second thing I did was finally listen to all those people (especially vehkam) screaming about reading the battle of the generation book. Although I had looked at it in the past, after noticing the amount of pages (almost 400) I'd "have to go through " to get to the finish line, I never made it past page 1. This time I really delved into it and boy was

I in for a surprise when time after time the author described just how I was feeling and how to deal with them. The hardest part of the struggle for me had always been motivation, as although I have a nice long list of reasons not to watch porn, I never was able to feel it inside of me, and never had a strong feeling to not act out. Any time that I managed to not watch porn did not feel especially good or exciting, rather it was a missed out opportunity to have an awesome time. Reading how the author describes just this point and has pages and pages dedicated to how to change a person's mindset to be excited to fight and overcome desire has been a real game changer for me. I never would've thought that I'd actually want to win more than wanting to enjoy.

The battle of generation book is awesome. I've been clean 5 months

Good For you!!

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by frank.lee - 24 Aug 2024 22:26

Mazal tov! Sorry I was not there.

Regarding privacy, basic rules of thumb is never mention anyone's user name to someone else.

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by iwannalivereal - 29 Aug 2024 14:58

Just realized I'm a few days overdue for my 12 month anniversary. Unfortunately for me, 12 hebrew months this year doesn't make a year so it'll be another month till I celebrate my year.

Happens to be I'm having a real rough time over the past week. I'm pretty sure it's due to way too much time sitting at home. Being that it's bein hazmanim, I'm getting stuck with hours and hours of babysitting and I'm pretty much stuck home from when I come home from shacharis till late afternoon. Got in touch with a number of chaveirim and they've been tremendously helpful in both giving me chizzuk, and with practical eitzos of what to do with my time while sitting home.

I haven't had a real tough tekufa in a while. I've noticed something interesting. In past times, when I was having a rough time my perspective had always been of almost a hatred towards myself, and maybe towards Hashem for putting me through this impossible and painful stretch. This time however, the feelings I've been having are of looking forward to being able to use this tekufa to shteig even more. I haven't had that many good opportunities to say no the YH in a number of months, and I'm now looking forward to doing it once again and to grow even stronger.

IWLR

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by BenHashemBH - 29 Aug 2024 15:00

Beautiful!

Palti!

KOMT!

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!
Posted by Muttel - 29 Aug 2024 16:26

BenHashemBH wrote on 29 Aug 2024 15:00:

Beautiful!

Palti!

KOMT!

I've heard that ??? is accepting another ????. IWLR, wanna sign up?

=====
=====

Re: Raboisai - I'm Living Real!

Posted by iwannalivereal - 03 Sep 2024 03:32

B"h doing much better - keeping myself busy and out of trouble.

It's been a few years since I've said yo"k kotton on erev rosh chodesh elul.

Past few years I either felt too guilty to say it, or I didn't want to waste my precious "porn time" with extra davening.

Great feeling!

=====
=====