

The Real Me

Even after all the work I have done thus far, to take this step is painful. (Although I know it will also bring relief and much good advice! Yes I am looking forward to it!)

My story - the full story:

(I hope this isn't too long. Even though it probably is. Sorry, it's gotta come out somewhere.)

I was a very temimusdika kid who had no clue what went on between husband and wife. (I remember learning about the parsha of sotah and having to ask my mother what a sotah was...)

In 8th grade a friend of mine introduced me to the wonderful world of the paid phone lines. At the time I didn't really understand what was going on.

Later on towards the end of ninth grade I discovered the experience of being ????? ??? ??????. I was taken aback and didn't fall again until succos bein hazmanim. From that point on it was downhill and quick. I spent the next 6 years with tremendous struggles in this inyan. At some point I realized what it was that my friend was showing me back in 8th grade and I included that in my struggle (just the opening messages - I never dreamed of actually talking to a random lady.) All the while I was learning in a prestigious yeshiva and doing very well there. I remember opening up to a very close friend and to a Rebbi of mine about the struggles with ??? ??????. They were both ???? me, however, nothing seemed to work. Even when I tried to throw myself into my learning it always ended in a fall. I think the longest I went in yeshiva was about a month. At some point in third year beis medrash I realized that the struggles and temptations had lessened in a serious way. I still don't know why, but that's the way it was for a while. After I got married and BH that seemed to be the end of it. Phew! Fast forward 6 years...living in a small out of town community...in Kollel...learning and involved communally...I find myself looking at inappropriate pictures and reading inappropriate articles online. This was a first for me. Help! (Yes, the Kollel didn't have the proper filters, otherwise I wouldn't have been able to access them. At home I didn't have my own computer, we have had techloq for years, and I don't know the password to my wife's computer.) I was pretty confused as to what was going on. I had no idea why I was doing this besides for...it's enjoyable. I decided that as I am trying to fix the filter situation in the Kollel I was going to get myself a computer with a filter to use while I am at the Kollel. As I was trying to convince my wife to agree to me having a computer it ended up coming out. Now my wife knows. I reached out to a Rebbi of mine. He gave me some advice which was basically helpful. For a little while. Fast forward one year. A few months ago I was feeling really tempted and then...I did it. I ended up calling one of these phone lines and talking to some ladies. This went on for a few short weeks until I realized that this will destroy my life if I don't get help and FAST! I reached out to some of my Rebbeim who in turn directed me to a therapist. I have been working with him for a few months and have seen some real improvement. I know that my case is pretty mild but I came here to get some chizuk from my Holy brothers, some guidance and mussar from some mentors, and some advice from anyone who has good ideas.

Looking forward to hearing from y'all!

???? ? ?????? ?????? ???

Day 500!

Wow.

This is the day that, for a long time, never thought would come. It's hard to believe that 500 days ago, not to much earlier than this, I was busy gettin' sledgehammered by HHM himself.

I am starting to appreciate the beauty of many thousands of small, consistent, good choices that are, BH, snowballing into a real avalanche of real change. (There were some big moments, too.)

I was reflecting recently on the title of my thread "The Real Me" and how apropos it is. When I came on, my intent wasn't exactly the nicest. It was, here is a disgusting human bein' that has engaged in some terrible sexual behaviors. This is the real me, the me that no one knows. Now, 500 days later, I can BH say that the title of this thread, and really the (pajama-clad, basement dwelling unfortunate, but I have to say this - iykyk) person behind this thread, is the real me. I have learnt, and continue to improve on, how to seamlessly integrate the multiple different parts of me into one, human, growth-filled Eved Hashem. My GYE friends, you know "The Real Me", most of all!

To all the silent, lurkin' GYE'ers,

It is possible!

Please consider reachin' out to a mentor* or a friend or postin' your story (or some of it)!

Please give it a shot. For real. It's much easier with the hand of a friend.

Please.

Just do it.

*Here's a small list to start:

HHM - Hashem Help Me - is the mentor-in-chief around here. He's reachable at michelgelner@gmail.com.

Some of the other great mentors here are Eerie - 1gimpelovitz@gmail.com, Muttel - muttel15@gmail.com, Reb Akiva - mevakesh247@gmail.com minhamayim - minhamayim1@gmail.com amevakesh - amevakesh23@gmail.com, iwannalivereal - iwannalivereal@gmail.com, yiftach - yiftach1609@gmail.com

That's a powerful way to look at it.

I second alex's thoughts, that is really a beautiful way to express what many of us strive for.

I want to share a vort that my Rebbe told me that has given me tremendous chizuk.

(*When I was in yeshiva, I opened up to him about my struggles with masterbation but I could not even consider opening up to him about anything more than that...)

In this weeks Parsha is the Parsha of the Sotah.

This lady is clearly strugglin' and is not responding appropriately. She was hangin' out with a strange man, and things were bad enpugh that her husband officially warned her to stay away from this man.

Yet, she ignores the warning and not only continues talkin' and hangin' out, she goes and secludes herself with him! From bad to worse!

And yet, the Torah says very clearly that if she stayed clean, and wasn't ?????, not only is her life spared, but ?????? ?????? ???.

???????!?!?!?!?

She went ahead and put herself in a dreadful situation that was totally of her own doing and yet she gets this reward of having a child if she didn't stray.

My Rebbi explained that the pshat is that at the end of the day, she was in a situation worthy of despair and, through some perhaps unknown strength, she came out on top. That is the key to unlock the promise of ????? ??????? ???.

Defeatin' the YH, even of one's own creation is worthy of tremendous ???.

This has given me a lot of chizuk over the years, as I have had ups and downs on my personal journey.

(He also added another ??? that was helpful, maybe for another time.)

*Hard to believe that it's been a year since this letter was delivered into my Rebbi's mailbox. Lots has happened since then, BH...

Firstly, the derher from sotah is fire! Thank you for sharing and I look forward to part 2.

I wasn't around for that letter, I just read it.

Power!

I wish every Rebbi received it. Maybe it would give them the push to reach out to bochurim more, to be more emotionally available. I really regret not being able to open up to or be mekabel from anyone when I was a bochur.

Over the last little while a few different things happened that awakened old tendencies inside of me. I started becomin' much less comfortable with myself then I have been in a (relatively) long time, and I started feeling the pressures from old comin' back.

That's not a good a good place to be headin', although I am not worried about it headin' there right now.

It was botherin' me a bit and I have spent some time thinkin' about it.

One nice thing was the realization that I am ok with not bein' ok with myself - because it will pass, bez"H with time and work.

Glad I have this space here to say this.

This is a powerful post and I have what to learn from you, friend.

Here's a warm hand, and an admiring hug, all the way to Burma!

I just want to accentuate the words highlighted above. So many of our struggles are rooted in the fact that we are not comfortable with ourselves, so many times.

interested in being viewed as pieces of flesh who are simply here to look at to my hearts desire.

I should think about (and verbalize to myself?) these ideas every day for the next week or so...

(It always helps me to type these things out, thanks for listening!!)
