I may be the son of God, but I am by no means the savior, not for myself nor for anybody else. I wouldn't say I've been struggling, because I haven't. I just really like sex. I don't know if I want to stop. I've tried stopping before, but then realized I didn't even want to... So it's not much of a struggle as much as it's an obsession that I guess I'm trying to curb and keep at bay.
