

We Are Dominating

Posted by wearedominating - 22 Nov 2024 05:17

Wow!! I've seen promotions for GYE but I never imagined it was even near this level of sophistication. Very impressed!! Major kudos to the founders of and contributors to this tech marvel!!

Actually came here originally to try to help someone else who might be in the pre-dominating stage.

My input: I came to the conclusion that the foundation of the moral corruption of the culture of our generation is Darwin's (pseudoscientific) evolution theory.

What do you think?

There are many philosophical or scientific theories or even social theories which promote a way of life in which a man is nothing more than a sophisticated animal. With the same goals and reasons for living as the rest of the animal kingdom. This results in all sorts of bad stuff.

But what brings you to this hallowed space, friend?

Greetings chaimoigen,

Since we're all dedicated to kedusha, I thought this would be the right space for this discussion.

Anyway, the facts are overwhelmingly against Darwinism and supportive of "Intelligent Design." Here's one video: www.wehi.edu.au/wehi-tv/molecular-visualisations-of-dna/ - Let's imagine if someone with a powerful voice (let's say Donald Trump) tweets occasionally promoting Intelligent Design. What would be a bigger morale boost for humanity to pursue devotion to Hashem than that?

I struggle to find the point of this post.

We dont need to drive ourselves crazy over trying to find a reason for why this struggle is so tuff.

In the end we have this nisoyon and we need to deal with it accordingly.

Why does it rain on the day that I decided to go jogging? There's no point to the question because in the end its raining and we have to find a way to deal with that.

Hi jewizard21,

Thank you sincerely for expressing your position to the question in this post.

We can destroy a termite colony by killing the termites as they appear, or we can kill just the queen termite and destroy them all at the foundation with one KO. Campaigning against Darwinism is like poisoning the queen termite. Fortunately, the scientific evidence against Darwinism is overwhelming.

What's stopping us from campaigning to knock this struggle out at its root till the end of all time?

You are looking at this too scientifically than practically. Trust me I am a scientific person.

Looking at it from an outside perspective it may be easy to discuss what the root cause of something is, but just like with most things even if you identify a cause, it doesn't create a magical cure.

If you think the cause of the downfall of society is Darwinism great but that's not gonna change society. I frankly beleive that the state of society won't change for the better but for the worst and it is and will be our job to adapt to the increase in exposure.

This is not a battle of logic. If it were then it would be easy to win bc we all intuitively know this is wrong.

It's very nice that you made an analogy that fits your means but it does not actually apply in this case bc killing the queen will not get rid of the problem bc there is already too much structural damage to the point we need to rebuild. We unfortunately are the tenets of this termite infested sinerio and have to learn to make repairs and kill the "queen of the nest" in our lives and find the right contracting team to fix the damage "the GYE community and our personal relationships".

I wish it were as simple as you put it but it is not.

Keep on Trucking, One Day At A Time!!
