It's true...but we can enjoy the feeling of being clean for a long time - as you said, it feels great!
Remember that, focus on how good it feels!

One day at a time...KUTGW!!

Remember - use the space you have, and the time, to get used to being clean - the filter won't always protect you, but it helps you stay clean, and gives you some time to get used to not needing that stuff.

I'll give you the example I gave someone else here - the yetzer hora (or addiction) is trying to attack you, and you're fighting back - this isn't something you really want! And you have bodyguards, all of us, rooting for you! Think of us wearing tefillin, kevlar trenchcoats, and carrying M-16's with grenade launchers, ready to fight off any attack - and we're always by your side!

Yeah; I used to use that line too.

After a while it catches up on you though...

Take the da*n shower!

Hi David4043,

I've just read the thread. Beautiful.

With dieting, they say that "It took ten years to put on all that weight, so don't expect it to all come off at once". Yet, with these behaviours, I can see that you have been able to take a 25 year old habit, and with the Riboino Shel Oilam's help, stay clean for almost a month!

I find this all extremely powerful and noiradig. It gives me a tremendous sense of inspiration and hisoirarus!

Please G-d, you'll continue to have hatzlocha, brocha, siata d'shmaya and you'll reach dargos of tahara and kedusha that you never dreamt possible!

Ditto that for all of us too!

(By the way, apologies. Another of my bad habits is my gratuitous use of Yeshivish :-)

With love,

NotGivingUpYetOldBean!

Hey David,

We dont begin all over again when we fall. We pick up right where we left off. What you did in the past does NOT get erased by any means. It is still there. All of those days of growing towards Hashem are still there. In life, there is no reset button. Only continue to grow!
