David, Hi. Just got caught up on your thread. You've had some great breaks from "it", lusting. And now since Rosh Chodesh Elul. What a beautiful time, what a beautiful life Hashem prepares for us. This hishtadlus you make makes Hashem so happy. He understands all about slips. Never let the yetzer try to tell you that Hashem doesn't love you, NO MATTER WHAT.

Keep going. You're doing great.

Reb David, rosh chodesh elul was indeed a very good day to start life again, ur hebrew statement was very touching u r very well aware of what's going on & u r right its hard to stay focused alone, so why not set up a few guy buddies u can email while u r b"h not on the internet od yom echad? Are you in any kind of program of growth so you get more and more free from the lust? Or are you just in a program of learning how to hold your breath longer?

Gevalt. Don't just get 'help'. Get the help you need. You need a G-d and friends who can help you gain progressive freedom, not a clothespin for the nose.
