

Yechiel (from DC)'s Journal

Posted by yechiel - 17 May 2010 21:41

Hello everybody,

I've lurked here quite a while and have read the Guard emails almost since the beginning. I've been in Duvid Chaim's group since the beginning of the current cycle. I've decided to start posting a bit since I've realized the importance of getting out of isolation. Along with the phone calls and private calls to other shipmates, this can be another tool in the arsenal. I hope to be of service as well as reap chizuk from all of you.

Basic facts: married, bunch of kids, am about three years into the addiction, DC's 12-step has been a real help and hopefully the beginning of real recovery.

I know some of the veterans around here such as Steve, 2 Dov's etc. and hope to get to know all of you taireh yidden.

Yechiel is DA MAN!!

Hey world, you jus don' KNOW what kinda deep thinking, existential questions this Holy Man is grapplin' wit. My thoughts, like how to get from the coffee urn to the cookie jar, pale in comparison.

But he'sa flyin' high anyway. This here Yechiel is growin' in leaps and bounds. he's WAY AHEAD of little me. But I guess that means I have his back. Which makes me fell mighty good.

Have a GREAT SHABBOS Yechiel, and the same to your adoring fans out there.
