Just want to say hello. I was here a few months ago and did 2 phone meetings which were good but I dropped off working the program. I'm back now so its really like a first time hello. Clean a week. Did 2 phone meetings this week. Liked them alot. I'm pretty lonely but tonight was great. I work nights but had off tonight so I learned with someone. Also, after the second phone meeting I davened and actually talked in English to Hashem asking him to carry me in his hands like the first three steps since I'm powerless over lust (and alot of other things.) I'm clean but my addiction is in the back of my head. I don't like that... Wishing everyone well.
