Hello from Blind Beggar
Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Aug 2010 21:19

Hello Tzaddikim! I just found this site last week. I think it is going to make my Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. I think the newness of the 90 day chart will get me 40 clean days to Shemini Atzeres but I am afraid of what will happen next. Does anyone have any suggestions?

I have read enough of the forum to see that you are all tzaddikim and all serving Hashem every day clean and again after every fall.

The holy Baal Shem Tov taught that the yetzer horo is more interested in the post-sin depression than in the sin itself.

Blind Beggar who wants to have eyes only for Hashem.

I don't think even ten people would help me be in a room with several hundred female sex addicts.

Its no wonder hardly any male addicts in recovery showed up!!!

Brave man your partner!!

?BlindBeggar admits he is not a sexaholic in his profile, and as is obvious, many other GYE people on this forum are not addicts, either. I am, and am b"H in recovery and sober today. I have been to many of those SA conferences and the one he describes had hundreds of frum people there, including many dozens who wear shtreimels and also spouses of recovering chassidim and yeshivishe yidden, as all SA conferences have. We always have a sefer Torah there and davening w laining etc between the meetings when the conference is over a Shabbos. b"H, and have for many years.

If you were a sexaholic as I am, chaver, I bet you would indeed attend such conferences, women or no. I understand your issue with girls around very well...I am a recovering pervert, too, remember? And I say from experience that such distractions are a kleinekeit in comparison to real life as a sex addict. I can live free one day at a time, now, because of recovery that Hashem gives me through 12 steps - and that includes occasional conferences.

To each his own, they say...and I just wanted to share mine. Different from yours, but that's a-ok.

How do you go to one of these without disclosing to your wife your dark history? (I'm asking for myself).

I gave up gambling a few years ago so not sure about that bet although i have been to casinos since it stopped being an addiction..

So i understand the concepts of what you are saying.

Having said that i have chosen the 12 steps without SA - for as you say... "to each their own"

I willingly take from their methods and wisdom without joining any individual physical group.

And thus i wont be going to any conferences, nor will i be taking your bets.

For i am not a sexaholic like you. I am a sexaholic like me.

For the first week of shovovim, my partner and I both had perfect weeks of keeping the 3-second rule.

My chassidic friend told me he met a 70-year-old chosid who has just discovered that he can walk in the street with his glasses in his pocket. Imagine what he would give to have known that since he was your age!

Back on the Wall for the umpteenth time with 106 GYE clean days.

As for SA, today is 2,510 days which are 358 weeks and 4 days of being sober. I am not a sexaholic but I could not have done that without going to meetings for a few months in 2011 to share and meet other people.

I don't think it's that interesting. Our SA Definition is that we admit anyone who admits they themselves have lust problems and say they want to be free of them. As far as I know, the official SA Definition that we read at the beginning of each meeting says nothing about each person needing to admit that they're addicts.

Besides, I've met in person with this man who who calls himself 'Blind Beggar' here. And he's a sincere, geshmake guy who has obviously come a long way since he stumbled onto GYE. I'm happy that he made use of SA!
