

Hello from Blind Beggar

Posted by Blind Beggar - 28 Aug 2010 21:19

Hello Tzaddikim! I just found this site last week. I think it is going to make my Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. I think the newness of the 90 day chart will get me 40 clean days to Shemini Atzeres but I am afraid of what will happen next. Does anyone have any suggestions?

I have read enough of the forum to see that you are all tzaddikim and all serving Hashem every day clean and again after every fall.

The holy Baal Shem Tov taught that the yetzer horo is more interested in the post-sin depression than in the sin itself.

Blind Beggar who wants to have eyes only for Hashem.

It does not matter that much if this seems nice, but I feel the need to be honest with you, sir. The way you express yourself makes me wonder what your point actually is, whether you are serious or not, and if you are just trying to play with this website and the people on it. If it is the latter, then that is really not very nice. If you are for real, then can you explain why you express yourself in this way?

I am still getting knowledge about how to use site, if I enter a stricter area, I did not know. I am not a teaser, my my only desire is to be a blesising, I am not trying to be mean. Dear Mr Dov: I found your comment phrase in your note "The first look is on G-d... I was attempting to show my joy of us looking this way, first, last, and always. Yes we are men, and the second, third look we might have to pay for it. I am only interested in all our victories sir, and our Maker indeed allows a test that comes personally at us, maybe in an elevator, the question is if that second look, did I find enough beauty in my Maker, His wisdom, His truth, His way to choose One over the beauty The One put in the elevator? For me when I enter talk with my Father, and we discuss these things, my mind has already enter His wisdom, , come lets reason together, though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be a wool. His strength of wisdom reasons gain more power to keep my minds eyes on the higher beauty of wisdom. My wife tells me that there are times I see many lines in the story, but I actually leave some lines out, even if I thought them, I am sorry that you felt it was not nice, I attempted to show I agreed, the intential looks is on me, so I reason with my Maker, as a sinner tempted, I can be whiter than snow, but for me, one of many ways of deliverance, is reasoning with my Maker, and in the beauty of Wisdom, the second glance prevented will come, and has come. I hope this helped, have a great day, thanks for being here for so many of us who battle with lust. Shalom.

Today is 1,893 days which are 270 weeks and 3 days of being sober by the definition of SA which is just a bottom line that defines what the bottom floor is.

13 days on the wall because I like to look at women on the internet. The wall says my record is 560 days which is a little hard to believe. Let's see if I can get to 90 days for the umpteenth time this time.

The name "Blind Beggar" comes from the stories of Rabbi Nachman of Breslov zt"l. In the story called "The Seven Beggars" the beggar of the first day is really a tremendous tzaddik who has nothing to look at in this world of sheker and gashmius.

I hope to be able to be guard my eyes so I thought it was a better name than No-Hope ???? or Lost Lusting Loser.

We should all be zoche to guard our eyes.

Brother I Beg to ask has this approach of blinders worked to shut out the WWW from your holy eyes

I am not the tremendous tzaddik that the rebbe wrote about.

I can guard my eyes.

I want to guard my eyes.

I do guard my eyes. Not all the time but often.

I ~~hear~~ SEE what you're saying

Its not easy - I know all about it

I have a question; the other line in your holy signature intrigues me

"If I view a woman as an object, I am powerless over lust, but I don't have to look."

In your conclusion it seems that you are stuck with objectifying and your only resort is not to look, which didn't help me at all

Did I misinterpret your message?

It is only if I view a woman as an object, which I don't have to do.

The signature is a bit old and needs to be updated. It will be something for me to think about during the week of repairing the damage I did to the sefira of Yesod.

I am back again in preparation for Shovavim.

I am working on the 3 second rule, which you should all know about, together with another member of the Forum. If one of us fails to adhere to the 3 second rule, he owes the other one 2 NIS. We speak on the phone every Friday and compare notes. Whoever fails the most pays the other one. The idea is for us both to owe nothing. The money is there to make the challenge real. Of course, this works because we both live in the same town and I know who he is.

Covenant Eyes recommends using the 3 second rule for impure thoughts also, and I am doing the 2 NIS fine system with a chosid who works in my office. He is doing it for histaclus and I am doing it for hirhurim.

So far so good. It has helped a lot over the last few days. I'm glad to be starting in the winter when the nisyonos are easier.

Welcome back Bee-Bee!!!
So far I have kept the 3 second rule for looking and thinking. My chassidishe office mate was successful also. The other Forum member told me the following.

"SA had an international conference here in Israel which I attended, and it lasted for 3 days. Besides male SA members, there are also female SA members and plenty of female S-Anon members. There were more than 750 people who attended, with a significant number of them being female. Thanks to this extra push of our agreement, I was able to stay conscious of what my eyes were doing and not stare or take second looks at these women. Many times I sat right up-front in a session and frankly couldn't tell you where the women were in the room, which is amazing. In the past, it would only take me a few seconds to pinpoint the most attractive lady in the room and then I would keep taking glances the whole time.

I am very grateful to say that I don't owe you any money for my time at the conference"

I recommend this to everyone. It is like an accountability group of 2 people.
