

Should Guests Remain Guests?

Posted by Shteeble - 01 Sep 2010 20:01

---

Did you notice that the ratio of guests to users using this site at any given time is about 3 to 1?

If you are only a guest, you are not getting the full benefits of this amazing site. The shaklah vetaryah between you and other GYE members is of enormous help.

Members are hereby requested to think of reasons why guests would hesitate to sign up, and if possible to offer solutions to overcome the hesitation.

Let's give others the opportunity that WE have!

:D :D

Oh, and if you're a guest, reply about your thoughts!!!

oops! can't huh?

=====

Re: Calling All Guests

Posted by Shteeble - 03 Sep 2010 00:21

---

I created a poll on this forum.

It's called Woooaaaaa HUGE DISCOVERY!!!!

The purpose of this poll is to try to prove that people don't have charata that they signed up.

To me it seems that the guests who don't sign up, are simply afraid they might regret it. Maybe they are afraid of being discovered.

Perhaps the results of the poll will encourage them. They can't see the results or vote, but we can at least keep them informed.

Please vote.

=====

Re: Should Guests Remain Guests?
Posted by Yosef Hatzadik - 22 Oct 2012 20:14

---

Shteeble wrote on 22 Oct 2012 20:06:

when the going gets tough

the tough get digging up old threads

=====

Re: Should Guests Remain Guests?
Posted by Shteeble - 22 Oct 2012 20:19

---

---

that's gevaldig

gevaldig

gevaldig

hi

.

.

possum

chuna feitel

heh heh

=====

=====

Re: Should Guests Remain Guests?

Posted by think good - 23 Oct 2012 09:22

---

I just posted this

Are they too busy to write?

Afraid to reveal their inner self?

Afraid of being recognized?

Maybe if more of these guests open up, which is not easy to do we will all have more success?

=====

=====

Re: Should Guests Remain Guests?

Posted by JustKeepGoing - 23 Oct 2012 13:24

---

---

I didn't sign up because of 1) Fear, of being recognized and opening up 2) I felt that I don't really need to join I can handle it by myself.....

So with time I saw I couldn't do it by myself, and I needed help but I couldn't talk to anybody about it so I finally joined. That's when I realized there's no comparison between guest and member, the relief I felt right away that I can communicate with others and get help and not be in my own little bubble of misery and "why can't I get out of this"

Best decision. I don't know where I would be if I hadn't joined.

=====

=====

Re: Should Guests Remain Guests?

Posted by Shteeble - 23 Oct 2012 14:16

---

jkg,

that's gevaldig

thanks for sharing.

kutgw

=====

=====