I wish you all the success. In fact, I wish that Hashem should give you a sweet pleasure to take the place of your porn before you need to give it up. I wish you no harm, and actually know that you find real comfort in porn. If I would be a ben-bayis by you, I would never dream of taking away your DVDs or computer, or anything, and would never, ever tell your wife about it. Not my style. I do not want to stop you.

I just want to you see yourself. That's all. Promise. And if you want to continue the porn and stuff, gezunterheit. The aveiros are your business. The kol yisrael areivim is not going to move me - there are more yidden doing more aveiros and I cannot make myself meshugah over one more frummie with his secret little stash of sweet porn hiding under his bekeshah. I really wish you the best. And I am not the first, as there was an yerushalmi amorah who gave money to a prostitute who was poor and she could now afford a bed so she could work again....tzedokah....go ask questions of me. I love you and cannot stand here and "do what's best for you". I would not have stopped from people waving fingers at me and saying "No, don't do it! Save yourself!", either. I have no dreams that it should work for you, either. You may be as big a loser as I am!

I guess you will not understand that either.

Hey! Derech Eretz is important here - how can you respect yourself if you say nasty things to nice people?

I guess he touched a nerve, hey?

Well UAJ I would say except for the sentence quoted below, that was probably the most accurate thing he's said so far Derech Eretz and respect for other people - women, children, rashaim, non-white-shirt-wearers, goyim, etc. is integral for our own self-respect, and recovery from many, many things. Caring about how others feel is one of the best things we can do for ourselves.

Now, I am not saying that we need to treat everyone equally - wear sheitels ourselves, put tefillin on women and let children cross the road by themselves...

But I don't think you're ready for that, yet.

In the meantime, I would love a small tidbit on what you learned today. Small, like yesterday...
