You have a lot of faulty assumptions this morning.

First, every baal habus knows that the fact that on our calendar Shavous falls out on the sixth of Sivan does not mean that Shavous is the sixth. It could be the 5th, 6th or 7th. See Rosh Hashana 6b and Minchas Chinuch 308. f you want to impress us then tells us pshat in the Chinuch.

Second, why do you assume you've done teshuva on kaas or loshon hora even once let alone a million times. Teshuva is more than to klap al cheit and say "Oy RBSO I'm sorry." I suggest you read Perek Gimmel of Chovos Halevovos Shaar Hateshuva well and in particular number seven. Keroo Levovchem requires the recognition and the acceptance that its going to hurt to change they way I've been thinking and acting until know. I've looked at porn all my life, I've enjoyed it, it's my "Joy" as you like to say and now I'm going to stop doing it. That hurts a lot. But I'm going to stop anyways. And I've taken steps to enable myself to make that stop. Its re-evaluating your whole outlook on life and who you are. Just throwing out the USB or ripping wires from the wall doesn't do that because nothing has changed inside you. Forget about a million times, have you done it once.

Maybe your thinking, give me a break that's impossible, that can't be done. But you're mistaken, it can. You don't have to go to a live SA meeting, but if you did you would see that its been done by people with far less kochos then you. But it all started because they recognized they couldn't do it alone.

And please, you're a big boy, you're not a sissy, so leave the stupid LOL and ggggg out and think honestly and seriously about what Dov said, what Jester said and what everyone else on this thread has said. A gutten chodesh and hatzlacha.

Who needs porn cure, you've done teshuva already.

Now back to Torah. What are you talking about?

You suggested earlier that we don't need to be mekadash Sivan since anyway's Shavuos is on the sixth of sivan so Rosh Chodesh is six days before Shavuos. As the Minchas Chinuch points out, however,

IM NOT DOING TESHUVA NOW

Well now that we've established that this is not about doing teshuva, I think we're getting somewhere.

So now we can ignore all the frumkeit about whether this is the torah way, not the torah way and we can just focus on the question of how do I stop myself from looking at porn.

Know that we know what were are trying to do and we're not distracted by torah and teshuva. Tell us tatelah, why do you want to stop looking at porn?

I'll let The Jester patiently analyze with you all the blablabla's after you tell him a dvar torah on , while we Americans continue to enjoy Shabbos.

Dov is right that you could probably use a good smack in the head to wake you up, however, if the wake-up call your looking for is some magic idea that will go "poof" and you'll stop looking at porn, it ain't going to happen here. As Duvid Chaim said recently, to stay Sober and in Recovery we need to "attempt to RE-PROGRAM our minds," that's not something that happens with a "boom" overnight, and there is no quick fix.

I read a lovely Likutey Moharan, quoting koheles... "There are good days, and there are bad days. On the good days, enjoy the good, on the bad days, LOOK!!"

You have amazing faith in my analytical abilities.

Unfortunately, such wisdom is beyond my grasp - those "blas" were deep...
Motzai Shabbos

But Laag - would you be willing to sacrifice yourself to science a little? I have an experiment, and would love someone to be a subject. It involves keeping a log of how you feel on different days.
