

HelloWorld!

Posted by perurevu - 11 Jan 2011 18:45

Shalom Aleichem,

My screen name is perurevu. I've been around this site for a while, getting chizuk and emails, and am just starting to post.

I Started a long time ago, had few sober streaks, and have been for almost 4 months now. I don't think men should be have root priveleges on computers, at least at home. I feel like I've been messed over by my modern society, and was on my highest level when 14. But even then I was taught to strive for more, and knew that some of the highest levels and abilities to do our job were only attainable with the two different halves intact. That is: man and woman, understanding each other and fixing the gap created after the tree of knowledge.

Hope everyone has hatlacha and grows and enlightens the world,

~~~~~
