

movies and YOU

Posted by lavi - 08 Jul 2014 20:06

hello everbody,

i like the name of this category" what works for me, because there is an opportunity to write about true experiences that already was, without the great unknown future being a factor.

having said that i want to tell the oilam, what i have learnt and what i feel about movies ie. watching for entertainment any kind of show which involves acting. (i mean to exclude nature and science shows- to some extent.

absolute poison. clouds the mind. pumps the imaginations. wastes time. destroys true emotions. kindles lust (oh so gently), makes the fantasy real, makes real fantasy.

makes you oiver a whole bunch of issurim, which does tend to push away siatta dishmaya which we need so desparately. how on earth are you suppose to concentrate on any good thing, let alone a tosafos or a shmona esrei, with "stuff" flying through your mind. i know we need outlets, but there gotta be things that are exactly that outlets, not inlets, healthy stuff, and the way to tell is by seeing if they disturb you when you are trying to focus on doing important things.

i haven't seen youtube for a month and i feel a different person.

can you relate?

thank-you everyone for sharing your experiences and views about movies. there seems to be a big connection between watching for entertainment and lust.

though i don't know if every here sees a direct connection. what do you think

I just watch lots of documentaries -- mostly about military and wildlife.

i think that one has to be majorly disciplined to do just that.

Yeah-but even so channel surfing during commercials can be a trigger.

You know what I do? If I want to watch a movie, I first check out the "Parent's Guide" on IMDB. It lists all the inappropriate content. I also like to watch movies but I like to check them out before even more.

Look at it this way-the reviews are Lhavdil and Imoshul, like deciphering Phsat in Tosfos or in a comment of R Akiva Eiger-the ratings only mention the obvious, but you have to read between the lines and realize that what are called movies either by Hollywood, European directors and "independent cinema" really are quite inappropriate for any Shomer Torah U'Mitzvos today-the language, violence and pritzus just are not what, how, and where one should be spending one's spare time-Al acgas vKamah VKamah for mosy TV.

thank you for your comment.

unfortunately for me, it is the easiest way to numb the pain, although i pay for it big time afterwards thanks buddy.

btw, i am going through a major ajustment in my life, and it really brings out all kinds of challenges. one thing that is really difficult for me to get over, is to break my movie habit, which i use , when i feel in the dumps. sometimes i think "i'm getting over this" and i don't watch for a long time, but when i get really down....

and so far i haven't fallen in lust, but i can hear my evil side planning for attacks the whole time.

i feel for you.

when i was really depressed, upset with my marriage and heavy into my addiction, I used to see 4-5 movies a week. BH, I dont watch almost any now and the funny thing is, I dont really miss them....EXCEPT when I'm watching TV and an ad for one comes out. Its amazing how ignorance is such bliss. When my wife drags me to one every so often, its amazing how i'll be interested in every preview. but a little while later, the interest fades, BH.

lust, porn, movies, alcohol, drugs, sports, etc...to me, theyre all just distractions. some pleasurable, some not, but they all accomplish the same thing. To temporarily help me ignore whatever pain I'm feeling. More and more, I'm finding the only real way to deal with the pain is surrendering it to Hashem. Getting close to Him takes away the pain for real.

May you find comfort in His arms and He give you the strength and serenity to deal with the tzuris in your life.

I have to admit that i binged 3 movies on Saturday night. My tapsic on movies ended and i just went straight for the TV after shabbos. Movies are not good for us because not only can they be gateway to porn but they have untznious girls and possibly even worse. They also waste sooo much time! Also, the concept and values in the movies completely conflict to Yiddishkeit.

To be honest, the real reason we watch movies is to see naked girls. We need to be honest with ourselves EVEN if we do end up watching. The worst thing is to dismiss the fact that we have a problem and we are doing something wrong.

dms. i appreciate your honesty. but for me action is also a major pull.

metal. i don't think think just surrendering is gonna do the trick.

i heard from (c.d.?) that pain is a sign that something is wrong, and think one has to get busy with sticky internal issues, in order to resolve his pain.

many times it has been mentioned that we have resentments deep inside and these give us a "license" to act up.
