

Thank you GYE!!

Posted by breakingthehabit - 24 Dec 2014 21:55

---

This site and everyone in here have given me so much Chizuk I can't even describe it. my recommendation, keep logging in as much as possible and avoid wandering around the internet. post, post, post... I am a newbie but this has worked nicely so far!

all the best and thank you all!

=====

=====

Re: Thank you GYE!!

Posted by belmont4175 - 24 Dec 2014 22:22

---

As somebody has started this thread, I will join to express my gratitude towards this amazing place.

I am here almost "90 days" I have tremendously benefited from the threads, posts, and most of all from getting out on the loneliness and making new friends sharing and caring for one another, and with some I have even become really close, I have learned very much from here derived much Chizuk and courage to continue working on my struggles, and have also managed to somewhat help others in there's.

Its just left to wish everyone a safe trip to sobriety and lots of strength of the way, and to the Heads here "may Hashem repay you many times over" (for we can't).

???? ???? ?? ????. ?????? ??????? ?????? ?????? ??????

GYE = Give Your Ear

=====

=====

Posted by unanumun - 29 Dec 2014 22:09

Yes thank you GYE. Thanks to the people that founded the site, the people that supported the site, the technicians that allow it all to happen, the moderators who don't allow it all to happen,

Coming to GYE has been a life altering experience for me. As time goes on, my appreciation and realization of what I have gained from this amazing place grows by leaps and bounds.

!!!!!!??? ?? ????? ??????? ??????? ????? ???

Posted by shomer bro - 29 Dec 2014 23:42

If not for gye, I shudder to think where I'd be now. I can with 100% certainty attribute my path toward recovery to the gye website, the posts that people post, and to all the people I'm in contact. There's such a warm feeling of other people struggling together with me and trying to help me get better all while being non judgemental. This website is pure gold! I'm so thankful that it's mobile friendly. May we all continue to see tremendous growth in this struggle and go m'chayil el chayil!!

Posted by yidtryingharder - 29 Dec 2014 23:59

To steal that concept who can see such a header and not feel a gush of hakoras hatov for the website creator the mods the posters etc. at 67 days clean and the same amount from the day I joined the hope and happiness that this site has instilled in me are both priceless and precious and I thank everyone involved in this site

I met some real nice thoughtful people here some have become like rabbaim some like brothers some like fathers

And some like friends but without gye this wouldn't be a reality

Hatzlacha and bracha to be mamshich this avodas hakodesh

=====

=====