

Some Important Insights

Posted by TalmidChaim - 18 Mar 2015 16:43

---

I learned some important insights speaking to a friend just now...

Just as we were/are powerless over lust, we are powerless over our defects, but we can be granted freedom from both. We need to do whatever is in our power and let G-d do the rest. A lifelong process of watching our defects, doing what we can to correct them, and become willing to have them removed.

This is the Mussar core of truth I need to internalize!

=====

Re: Some Important Insights

Posted by Larry - 18 Mar 2015 17:51

---

TalmidChaim wrote:

I learned some important insights speaking to a friend just now...

Just as we were/are powerless over lust, we are powerless over our defects, but we can be granted freedom from both. We need to do whatever is in our power and let G-d do the rest. A lifelong process of watching our defects, doing what we can to correct them, and become willing to have them removed.

This is the Mussar core of truth I need to internalize!

Wow - that's very powerful... it really captures the idea of being moser nefesh to Hashem... very apropos for this week's parasha.

Thank you for posting.

Hatzlacha to all of us in internalizing this.

Have a good, clean day,

Larry

=====
=====

Re: Some Important Insights

Posted by TalmidChaim - 19 Mar 2015 12:36

---

Thanks, Larry. I'm very fortunate -- all of us here are, actually -- to have unfettered access to so many wise souls. There are some very impressive minds here on GYE, and even more impressive neshamot.

=====
=====

Re: Some Important Insights

Posted by cordnoy - 10 Jan 2016 02:59

---

TalmidChaim wrote:

I learned some important insights speaking to a friend just now...

Just as we were/are powerless over lust, we are powerless over our defects, but we can be granted freedom from both. We need to do whatever is in our power and let G-d do the rest. A lifelong process of watching our defects, doing what we can to correct them, and become willing to have them removed.

This is the Mussar core of truth I need to internalize!

Powerless, but not helpless.

We gotta start with a strong commitment.

=====