Welcome bobov!! I'm not going to ask the question that is on everybody's mind.....

Don't be a stranger, tell us more about yourself, about your struggles, we can't offer our similar experiences if we don't know what we're comparing them to.

Keep on Posting!!

No if there are no numbers in the name there are no questions in anyone's minds!!

But the truth is the bais din never said about how you need to write bobov on a site for addicts. So maybe your right that there is a question here. I'm not sure i think we need to ask the Rabbonim of the bais din.

Anyway....

Welcome bobov!!!

Please listen to Pidaini and share a bit more about yourself.

Keep On Posting!!!

Perhaps some of the old timers would suggest the following...

Warning: Spoiler!

Welcome,

Most of us would suggest to leave the spouse out of it.

What's goin' on?

What are you seein'?

What are you hearin'?

What are you thinkin'?

Lookin' forward for more.

Cordnoy

Most of us would suggest to leave the spouse out of it.

At what point would you bring the spouse into it?

Every case is different.

No general rules (at least from me).
