Change your Mindset Change your Mazel

Pretty simple and straightforward

as I see and belive I can and feel better about myself that I can make it and that a fall is something I don't put as much emphasis on as I used to. Of course always looking for new strategies. But the mindset that I am aiming for is the belife I can and I think once I reach it. That fight for willpower won't even exist. Because I won't be struggling with doubts anymore.

changing your mindset = chainging how successful you are (mazel).

Even though you had some falls, your mindset can still be changing and you can be traveling consistently on the road to success. If your falls make you learn what your triggers are, build a better plan and fortify yourself more, then they are contributing to your freedom. KOMT.
