

IT'S ALL YOU

Posted by Kedusha252 - 19 Apr 2010 18:35

---

Dear members of this forum,

I just fell today and as usual, moments removed from falling my mind was racing with thoughts of how I will go on a long long streak from this moment onwards. Then it hit me, you know the only reason why I might not go on a long long streak in the future?, it's if I allow myself to fall. Nobody else will cause me to fall, nobody else will prove my inner desires futile, except for me.

So I feel that everyday I need to strongly remind myself that it's all up to me. I need to do an action every single day that will maintain my resolve to fight and keep growing every day because it's been eight years of fighting and ever since joining GYE, this year has been my most successful fighting year. So I hope I can convince myself to always want to keep being clean and take it one day at a time.

Another point of chizuk is I am am big baseball fan and I enjoy listening to WFAN sports radio 66. On the station they constantly talk about how the Mets can improve and turn around their season. I thought to myself, listen to the passion of these people on the radio to want to see their team win and keep improving. If only I can be my own fan and inject myself with good advice and motivation on a daily basis and want myself to win just as these fans want their team to win so dearly.

My plan is to post on this forum everyday and try to maintain my personal chizuk and give others as well. Here we go, let day # 1 begin!

Kedusha252

=====
=====

Re: IT'S ALL YOU

Posted by the.guard - 19 Apr 2010 21:43

---

Great attitude!

You may find it easier to let Hashem fight for you... Have you read the handbooks?

=====

Re: IT'S ALL YOU

Posted by DovInIsrael - 19 Apr 2010 22:08

---

Guard - why stop at letting Hashem only do the fighting.. .

heck... let Hashem pitch, hit, and field for you too.

Its His show anyway...

sit back and enjoy HIS game!

=====

Re: IT'S ALL YOU

Posted by Chazak Amenu - 23 Apr 2010 03:33

---

hopefully you are not a nets fan!

=====