

FEEL THE HUGS!!!

Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 21 Sep 2009 18:08

Possibly flakiest thread in GYE's history.....

Listen,life is scary.

All of us have a lack of trust.

In the world.

In Hashem.

In ourselves.

That's why this thread is gonna change all that.

Hashem runs the world.

I know what you're all saying....

"O man.Another bitachon shmuz!"

NO!

This is the HASHEM LOVES US corner!!

Here we will come each day and share or at least acknowledge one hug that Hashem gave us that day.

And when we all feel ready,we can move up to two.

And three.

And a million.

Could be big hugs.

Small hugs.

Fat hugs.

Thin hugs.

They're all good.

The point is to just spot it and feel it!!

This is a big step in our recovery chevra!!

Who's in?

in that respect a heard a beautiful dvar torah over sukkos.

they say the minimum wall for a sukkah is two walls plus a bit connecting it- why davkah this shape?

imagine an arm- top part, below the elbow, and then the hand.

this is the sukkah, the arm of Hashem, giving us a hug.

Standing at the bus stop this morning, it was cold, I wasn't in the mood to be out and about so early, didn't want to go to work - the usual Monday routine. Suddenly the sun burst out from behind the trees into one of the most incredible late-winter sunrises imaginable!

It was just like a big, encouraging hug. Thanks Tattel!!

I was well along the road of getting myself into big trouble, and Hashem very clearly, and gently, removed the obstacle (or placed an obstacle, however you want to look at it).

Thank you, Hashem.

here there are eight on each side

here, there are seven on each side

I think we can say pshat, that over there, there are seven, because it's a hug from one mortal to another, a person's actions are ruled by seven middos- chaga"t nehi"m, while hashem (who is the one giving the hugs in this thread) is above that and is infinite, it is suggested by Matisyahu that Eight is the number of Infinite- precisely because of this- because it's one more than what we know how to be [see [url=http://www.azlyrics.com/lyrics/matisyahu/miracle.html]here[/url]]... Although it is highly more probable that the reason eight was suggested as the infinite symbol is because it is similar to the Ouroboros as suggested here. But I do believe Matisyahu's words are based on a chasidic vort (I believe from Reb Tzaddok), that the reason Chanuka has eight nights is to demonstrate this concept, that eight symbolizes what is higher than the forces of nature.

In any event eight definitely symbolizes infinity which is G-d, which parentfers the seeming stira in Yosef Hatzaddik's spelling (I wouldn't want to ch"v blame the stira on an imperfection on YH's part...)

whoa! heavy-duty

me thinks part of the magic of a hug is the simplicity of it

Mayan, love that you posted here and can't believe that his thread has been quiet for so long, though, my thread has also been quiet and I haven't been posting for some time.

I received a couple of hugs today and was thinking about how HKBH was clearly sending me a message and I was feeling gratitude and appreciation. It dawned on me that this is the place that I wanted to share and shout, "Hey, I got some HUGS!!"

I have been having some challenges lately that I'm not going to go into at the moment here and this morning I incidentally bumped into two different people who, no doubt, HKBH arranged for me to meet today (or maybe for them to meet me, or both, why am I so egocentric...). One of them offered a simple kindness that was not requested or expected and that fit my circumstances perfectly and having met the person without the kindness would have been a sufficient hug.

As you said Mayan,

HUG!!!!

well,

HUGS!!!!!!!!!!

I was driving down a road at about midnight in NJ in an area that has white a few deer. I had decided to put on my brights at the start of my trip and as I'm hitting 40mph out comes a big deer buck with antlers and all right into the middle of the street. I didn't even notice him until BH BH BH he quickly made a u-turn about 10 ft from my car and ran back to where he came from.

Thank you Hashem!!!

HUG!
