

PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by lionking - 15 May 2017 10:27

QUOTE FROM SHMIRAS AINYANIM EMAIL (1391):

Footnote by the editor:For the above-stated reason, GYE is in the process of dividing the website into two separate websites: one for non-addicts and one for addicts. We hope it's ready by the end of 2017, be"H.

I sign this petition against this idea. I consider myself a non-addict, but have gained tremendously from exposure to some great people whom are addicts.

=====
=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by lionking - 16 May 2017 22:07

Mesayin,

Do you mean something like the BB threads which supposedly aren't accessible for unmarried people?

Perhaps a category like Addicts, which you will need special permissions to access. So that if someone wants to rant about the 12 steps, they can comfortably do it there?

=====
=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Mesayin - 16 May 2017 22:19

lionking wrote on 16 May 2017 22:07:

Mesayin,

Do you mean something like the BB threads which supposedly aren't accessible for unmarried people?

Perhaps a category like Addicts, which you will need special permissions to access. So that if someone wants to rant about the 12 steps, they can comfortably do it there?

Something like that.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by lionking - 17 May 2017 03:57

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 13:12:

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

Here's my suggestion

There are 25 regular posters

There are 250 irregular posters

Can you or the admin please identify the perpetrators that push others to 12 steps?

Is there a spinning "12 Step" banner on every page of GYE?

In that case there will need to be 3 websites

- 1) Pro 12 Step
- 2) Anti 12 Step
- 3) Tap Dancers

Or maybe you meant something else?

You know what? Time to bump a nice old thread...

I found the perp. Listen to this recording about 33 minutes in. It's on the introduction to one of the tools which get pushed on a lot of newcomers.

Warning: Spoiler!

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by bb0212 - 17 May 2017 04:33

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 22:06:

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 22:02:

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 22:00:

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 21:56:

I may have another idea.

Perhaps insert a setting in where the creator of the thread only allows certain users to see it and if it is a new user then there should be a choice for example that only platinum borders can see it.

The benefits would be as follows:

1. No trolls or stupid heads are putting in there crooked opinions.
2. The creator can be more honest with his posts and doesn't have to worry about some shmow reading it.

Thats regarding the forum which is not being split up and is remaining the same.

Exactly, instead of splitting it, make modifications to it.

But the discussion is about the GYE site, not the GYE forum.

To me, it seemed like many posts here were about the forum.

=====
=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 11:37

lionking wrote on 17 May 2017 03:57:

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 13:12:

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

Here's my suggestion

There are 25 regular posters

There are 250 irregular posters

Can you or the admin please identify the perpetrators that push others to 12 steps?

Is there a spinning "12 Step" banner on every page of GYE?

In that case there will need to be 3 websites

- 1) Pro 12 Step
- 2) Anti 12 Step
- 3) Tap Dancers

Or maybe you meant something else?

You know what? Time to bump a nice old thread...

I found the perp. Listen to this recording about 33 minutes in. It's on the introduction to one of the tools which get pushed on a lot of newcomers.

Warning: Spoiler!

I do admire how he slipped seamlessly into promoting the 12 steps if chopsticks don't work!

=====

You can't go around calling Guard the perp.
Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE
Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 11:38

bb0212 wrote on 17 May 2017 04:33:

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 22:06:

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 22:02:

GrowStrong wrote on 16 May 2017 22:00:

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 21:56:

I may have another idea.

Perhaps insert a setting in where the creator of the thread only allows certain users to see it and if it is a new user then there should be a choice for example that only platinum borders can see it.

The benefits would be as follows:

1. No trolls or stupid heads are putting in there crooked opinions.
2. The creator can be more honest with his posts and doesn't have to worry about some shmow reading it.

Thats regarding the forum which is not being split up and is remaining the same.

Exactly, instead of splitting it, make modifications to it.

But the discussion is about the GYE site, not the GYE forum.

To me, it seemed like many posts here were about the forum.

There are only so many times I can say that the split has nothing to do with the forum.

I can't force people to believe me.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 11:41

cordnoy wrote on 16 May 2017 14:38:

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

This also contradicts the assertion that the forum will not be split. Accordin' to your explanation, the forum is one of the two primary problems.

Il actually think that the private messagin' option might be the most detrimental part of the site, for then, people with skewered opinions are not fact checked.

Bottom line, this site is better than the sites we used to belong to.

I personally agree wholeheartedly with the skewered stuff going on there behind closed private messaging.

Maybe the moderators can monitor those chats more closely and ban the people who give bad advice and detrimental support from the chat function.

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Shlomo24 - 18 May 2017 14:32

I emailed Guard about this topic. He CC'd it to Dov. I emailed Dov back and forth about the pro's and con's of splitting the tools of the website. He also explained to me a lot of the thought process involved. Eventually I came to a point where I agreed with him about the split. Too long for me to explain, but bottom line is that people need to know what works and what doesn't. The label "addict" may be misleading, but it's the best distinction that can be made. The current system, with all it's levels, is very confusing and it enables people to avoid serious recovery. The new system should be much clearer and user-friendly.

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by cordnoy - 18 May 2017 14:59

Shlomo24 wrote on 18 May 2017 14:32:

I emailed Guard about this topic. He CC'd it to Dov. I emailed Dov back and forth about the pro's and con's of splitting the tools of the website. He also explained to me a lot of the thought process involved. Eventually I came to a point where I agreed with him about the split. Too long for me to explain, but bottom line is that people need to know what works and what doesn't. The label "addict" may be misleading, but it's the best distinction that can be made. The current system, with all it's levels, is very confusing and it enables people to avoid serious recovery. The new system should be much clearer and user-friendly.

For the record, I disagree.

DovDov (both of them) knows much more about addiction and recovery than I will ever know.

I know much more about the forum.

I reserve judgment on whatever they decide to do until they actually do it.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Workingguy - 18 May 2017 15:51

If one of the problems is the pushiness of some people on the forum, I don't see why that can't happen on either side of the aisle.

And there are plenty of people who aren't necessarily pushy in general but certain posts bring that out in them.

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Shlomo24 - 18 May 2017 19:17

The forum isn't changing regardless, so that's not really relevant.

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by bb0212 - 19 May 2017 11:25

Shlomo24 wrote on 18 May 2017 19:17:

The forum isn't changing regardless, so that's not really relevant.

So for Cords, that's perfect, correct?

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by cordnoy - 19 May 2017 12:15

bb0212 wrote on 19 May 2017 11:25:

Shlomo24 wrote on 18 May 2017 19:17:

The forum isn't changing regardless, so that's not really relevant.

So for Cords, that's perfect, correct?

For Cords, everythin' is perfect.

=====

=====

Re: PETITION AGAINST SPLITTING UP THE WEBSITE

Posted by Trouble - 20 Jun 2017 17:27

Hashem Help Me wrote on 16 May 2017 12:51:

GYE says there is an issue at hand. Maybe if we can come up with another eitzah, it won't be necessary to split the site. They are getting many complaints from people who come to the site and wish to get better. Either they don't need 12 steps or they are not yet ready for 12 steps. As they explore the site, specifically the partner program and the forum they find themselves being very intimidated (by well intentioned people who do not realize how they are coming across). And many of them leave. Maybe the more cynical among us will say, "Well that means they have not yet hit rock bottom and therefore are not yet ready to work". That my friends, is simply not true. GYE feels a responsibility to help all of us in our own personal struggles. There is no one size fits all mehalech. Some need a soft patient approach, others appreciate a more challenging thought provoking one. Some need SA and 12 steps, others simply do not. Let's try to figure out a way this issue can be resolved so they do not need to split the site. Otherwise, although you and i may gain from everyone's collective wisdom, the needs of so many others who are not receiving the help they need, may force GYE to make the split. Suggestions?

I propose 48,261,384 (please check my math mr. Golden) sites:

Married men

Single guys

Married women

Single women

Transgender

Each one should be separated by their particular fetish or addiction.

Each one should be separated by frequency of using their drug of choice.

Further separation by their particular goals: i.e., teshuva, recovery, sobriety, just for today.

Do you use drugs?

There must be a split between those who would enter a church to attend a meeting and those who wouldn't.

An additional divide between the fellows who live in the hicks and those who live in the stix.

Are you an occasional drinker?

I would suggest that anyone who has a significant other who is more that 22 pounds, or one kilo, overweight, should not be mingling with the skinny folk.

I didn't even mention the important age divide of 29.

Are you into Europeans, Moroccans, Brazilians, Hindus, Jews (God forbid), blacks, models, mannequins, animals, shpitzels, body builders, sumo wrestlers, Kansas city royals ball girls?

If these resolutions are adapted, kohanim will be allowed on all sections of the forum.

Oops.....they already are.

Roll call please.....

=====

=====