

Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 16 May 2017 21:09

I'm all ears

Anyone?

=====

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Mesayin - 16 May 2017 21:43

Remember to put the bigger half of the split away for the afikoman.

=====

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 16 May 2017 21:46

Mesayin wrote on 16 May 2017 21:43:

Remember to put the bigger half of the split away for the afikoman.

Hey this is a serious thread

We are trying to make Seder here

=====

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 12:56

I'm concerned that

- Our GYE family may be broken apart
- Assisting newcomers will be hampered, by combersome regulations, which oldcomers will be held to, but newcomers won't / don't abide by

If this is open for discussion, I kindly request the.guard, HashemHelpMe and Growstrong who are in the know , to please express;

- 1) What new design is on the cards
- 2) What are current GYE problems
- 3) How the new design will solve the problems

Signed

A younger brother

Karl

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 13:59

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 12:56:

I'm concerned that

- Our GYE family may be broken apart
- Assisting newcomers will be hampered, by combersome regulations, which oldcomers will be held to, but newcomers won't / don't abide by

Are you talking about within the forum?

Or with respect to the site at large?

=====
=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 14:14

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 13:59:

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 12:56:

I'm concerned that

- Our GYE family may be broken apart

- Assisting newcomers will be hampered, by combersome regulations, which oldcomers will be held to, but newcomers won't / don't abide by

Are you talking about within the forum?

Or with respect to the site at large?

In the forum

Again I assume you'll say the forum isn't changing

You answered a question with a question

How about you help my cluelessness and answer any or all the 3 questions I asked this morning

Thanks brother

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 14:25

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 14:14:

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 13:59:

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 12:56:

I'm concerned that

- Our GYE family may be broken apart

- Assisting newcomers will be hampered, by combersome regulations, which oldcomers will be held to, but newcomers won't / don't abide by

Are you talking about within the forum?

Or with respect to the site at large?

In the forum

Again I assume you'll say the forum isn't changing

You answered a question with a question

How about you help my cluelessness and answer any or all the 3 questions I asked this morning

Thanks brother

Are the questions relevant if nothing is happening to the forum? (last question instead of answer)

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 14:37

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 14:25:

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 14:14:

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 13:59:

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 12:56:

I'm concerned that

- Our GYE family may be broken apart
- Assisting newcomers will be hampered, by combersome regulations, which oldcomers will be held to, but newcomers won't / don't abide by

Are you talking about within the forum?

Or with respect to the site at large?

In the forum

Again I assume you'll say the forum isn't changing

You answered a question with a question

How about you help my cluelessness and answer any or all the 3 questions I asked this morning

Thanks brother

Are the questions relevant if nothing is happening to the forum? (last question instead of answer)

No

Please provide a confirmation number

=====
=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 14:46

I emailed my confirmation number.

Do I get a choice of prizes?

=====

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 14:53

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 14:46:

I emailed my confirmation number.

Do I get a choice of prizes?

The email says "It's not happening NOW"

It actually seems to me that that was the plan, and may be in future

So back to the drawing board - sorry no prizes buddy

1) What is the shelved separate forum plan

2) What problems exist today

3) How was the plan going to fix the problems

=====

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Mesayin - 17 May 2017 14:53

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 21:09:

I'm all ears

Anyone?

Here might be couple of compelling reasons, take it or leave it:

1. For non addicts some material on this site may actually detrimental, to go in detail about how human nature of this addiction can be disturbing and detrimental to them. All they need is a nice piece of Ohr Hachaim on the parsha about kedusha and about dopamine, etc... There is a reason why inderheim in Europe no one discussed this issues. Let's face it, someone who comes to this site will sooner or later read about something he shouldn't.

2. Since the split site will have different name (like shmiraseinayim.kot) then someone who just wants to learn about shmiras einayim will not need to be ashamed to go that website. He will be able to tell his wife, Rabbi, friend, mother-in-law about it without fear of their suspicion unlike GuardYourEyes.

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by stillgoing - 17 May 2017 15:13

I assume that of all of the addicts who are here, most had no idea that they were an addict when they came here (myself included). I needed to come here without realizing if.

Then there are those who are addicts but won't admit it (which is fine). They need to come to a mixed forum too.

Then there are those who are indeed non-addicts. They probably don't need the site anyway since there is a lot of literature, shurim etc available today in the public. If they do come they will probably gain from listening in anyway.

=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 15:21

Mesayin wrote on 17 May 2017 14:53:

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 21:09:

I'm all ears

Anyone?

Here might be couple of compelling reasons, take it or leave it:

1. For non addicts some material on this site may actually detrimental, to go in detail about how human nature of this addiction can be disturbing and detrimental to them. All they need is a nice piece of Ohr Hachaim on the parsha about kedusha and about dopamine, etc... There is a reason why inderheim in Europe no one discussed this issues. Let's face it, someone who comes to this site will sooner or later read about something he shouldn't.

2. Since the split site will have different name (like shmiraseinayim.kot) then someone who just wants to learn about shmiras einayim will not need to be ashamed to go that website. He will be able to tell his wife, Rabbi, friend, mother-in-law about it without fear of their suspicion unlike GuardYourEyes.

You make sense!

Its already there...

On your computer please look at top right of the page where it says "go to prevention site"...

=====
=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website
Posted by GrowStrong - 17 May 2017 15:38

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 15:21:

Mesayin wrote on 17 May 2017 14:53:

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 21:09:

I'm all ears

Anyone?

Here might be couple of compelling reasons, take it or leave it:

1. For non addicts some material on this site may actually detrimental, to go in detail about how human nature of this addiction can be disturbing and detrimental to them. All they need is a nice piece of Ohr Hachaim on the parsha about kedusha and about dopamine, etc... There is a reason why inderheim in Europe no one discussed this issues. Let's face it, someone who comes to this site will sooner or later read about something he shouldn't.

2. Since the split site will have different name (like shmiraseinayim.kot) then someone who just wants to learn about shmiras einayim will not need to be ashamed to go that website. He will be able to tell his wife, Rabbi, friend, mother-in-law about it without fear of their suspicion unlike GuardYourEyes.

You make sense!

Its already there...

On your computer please look at top right of the page where it says "go to prevention site"...

MarkZ

Why don't you just admit that you are powerless over GYE

And then you can also call yourself an addict!

=====
=====

Re: Compelling Reasons For Splitting the Website

Posted by Markz - 17 May 2017 16:19

GrowStrong wrote on 17 May 2017 15:38:

Markz wrote on 17 May 2017 15:21:

Mesayin wrote on 17 May 2017 14:53:

Markz wrote on 16 May 2017 21:09:

I'm all ears

Anyone?

Here might be couple of compelling reasons, take it or leave it:

1. For non addicts some material on this site may actually detrimental, to go in detail about how human nature of this addiction can be disturbing and detrimental to them. All they need is a nice piece of Ohr Hachaim on the parsha about kedusha and about dopamine, etc... There is a reason why inderheim in Europe no one discussed this issues. Let's face it, someone who comes to this site will sooner or later read about something he shouldn't.

2. Since the split site will have different name (like shmiraseinayim.kot) then someone who just wants to learn about shmiras einayim will not need to be ashamed to go that website. He will be able to tell his wife, Rabbi, friend, mother-in-law about it without fear of their suspicion unlike GuardYourEyes.

You make sense!

Its already there...

On your computer please look at top right of the page where it says "go to prevention site"...

MarkZ

Why don't you just admit that you are powerless over GYE

And then you can also call yourself an addict!

I'd probably create 10 websites before calling myself THAT!

Guys relax it's just a joke between GS and Karl

=====