

How Will They Know When You Die (after 120)?

Posted by kidushashem - 22 Aug 2011 23:31

Dear Kehilla Kedosha,

I think it's time to bring this topic up.

The terrible question is, how will they know on GYE if someone has died after 120?

What are we gonna do when someone really popular suddenly disappears and stops posting (Lo Aleinu)? How will we know what actually happened?

I for one, wouldn't be able to stand the suspense...

There's got to be a way to solve such a problem.

Anyone have any ideas?

Well it does put you to sleep which is 1/60 of death... so I guess it's accurate.

remember to reserve a wedding hall with truck parking and huge amplifiers for the monstuh' truckers and tehilim zuggers of GYE

oh, and cholint makes a great main course hope you pop in when you can wishing you the best in life, learning and laughing

Take care TZ! I'm sad to see you heading off but I'm happy you'll be in a Yeshiva with no internet! I hope you stay very strong during the Zman. Do you have a plan of action?

I hope to see you back again soon!

Love, KH

I work opoutside the community, in a public/government job.

It is always possible that I could, Chas V'shalom, pass away on a Friday night or Shabbos day, be burried on Sunday, and on Monday everyone at work would be asking where I was....why I was late....etc., because I would already be burried.

There is only so much control we have, and we must all learn to control the things we can, namely our behavior, and not worry about controlling the things that are beyond us.

"...and the wisdom to know the difference..." should go in there somewhere.

for some reason worrying what people at work would think happened if i died doesnt really get me that nervous. but i can hear the peculiarity in that situation. like if your boss starts revving up about how he is going to give ou flakck for being late and then finds out you were dead..... kinda odd....

wait, when was the Takanah broken?

Are we just ignoring it or was someone Matir?

i can't find the exact source in veyoel moshe right now, but according to my memory it was something that even then ein roiv hatzibbur yechoilim laamoid bah-- it's somewhere in maamar yishuv e.y.

before rosh hashana i found it- not in vayoel moshe, but i think this is the vayoel moshe's source. sefer amudei arazim end of amud gimmel, if anyone wants to see it- just send me an email and i'll send you a pdf :-*
