

It's not fair!

Posted by tehillimzugger - 10 Oct 2011 04:57

why is it that everyone on this forum always has good, warm, loving, helpful words to say :-*

and all i can say is "say tehillim, love hashem, and GUITAR. ???

is it because everyone is older and wiser? :-[ is it possible to be more mature than a nineteen year old :o

please share your opinions on the matter as i find it of utmost importance

=====

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by Back on Track - 12 Oct 2011 00:28

Tz- some ppl on gye just giggle a lot talk about cholint kishka and trucking.... Whatever works for you man. And please send any rotten tomatoes my way.

=====

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by tehillimzugger - 12 Oct 2011 01:39

. but i do have a stale muffin ;D

=====

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by kidushashem - 17 Oct 2011 11:55

I've found your posts to be really good!

are you only 19 or did I misunderstand?

=====

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by tehillimzugger - 17 Oct 2011 15:08

tehillim 139 verse 5 (i think) "achor vikedem tzartanu." rabbi samson raphael hirsch translates this as, "you have confined me between the past and the future". (or as you put it, "life is now".)

but i'm making the best of it

GUITAR

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by kidushashem - 18 Oct 2011 23:27

so yes i am still stuck in my twentieth year and i can't go anywhere >

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by testchart4 - 11 Feb 2013 15:37

test attach

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by testchart4 - 11 Feb 2013 15:47

testattach

=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by testchart4 - 11 Feb 2013 15:49

testtest

=====
=====

Re: It's not fair!

Posted by testchart4 - 11 Feb 2013 16:02

testattach

=====
=====