

moving to Israel

Posted by Kevin Pond - 25 Jun 2012 22:12

---

Hi there!

Kevin here again...

just to let you guys know that i am still alive, kicking & that i am B"H stronger now. i had a very minor fall (yup, i reported it in the 90 days chart) but BH in general things are doing much better. The forum helped me tons.

i am mature enough to know that the Y"H is always there, and in certain respect you are always in his sights, but i do feel that as of now something very inner did change inside of me, something that was'nt there before GYE.

GYE you rock!!!!

ALSO- we are moving to Eretz Yisroel soon IY"H!! Bye, bye Europe! It's a "scary" move, but I do feel it is the right one, for more than one reason.

)

=====

=====

Re: moving to Israel

Posted by Kevin Pond - 02 Aug 2012 22:18

---

true, TZ

as i said/ wrote before, my move was NOT in order to "clear away my problems". there are no magic solutions.

i would like to add, though, that moving from a town where pritzus in the streets was rampant into a haredi neighbourhood does help. it does NOT "take away the problem" but it helps. you could argue that moving to Lakewood or to Boro Park would do the trick just as good. and you may have been right (PS did anybody here ever say that I am too secretive?

kevin

=====

=====