hey emu,

remember when you were the lawyer in that case of the blood libel?

(Disclaimer: this thread is in no way intended to make litzanos of any part of yiddishkeit, it is meant solely for the purpose of being mesameach yidden and giving anyone who needs a kosher outlet a place to write. thank you for your understanding and cooperation) without his head?

and you had the bottles of blood in those Kedem bottles,

The Czar wanted to expel all the Jews from the land of Ad"chHoff Luckily I did the supermemory charm with a special shem and we erased the minds of all the goyim, and I Levitated the body into the Galachs Basement it turned out it was that shoita khaleed who did it.

He was jealous of the bottles. he thought they were woodford....

What a shoita, i was way too smart to keep woodford in my basement. i kept it in the cemetery next to the reshaim's kevarim, i figured that spirits go with spirits if you know what i mean...

i had an interesting sense of humor that time.

I sometimes confuse the various golems...

was he the one who beat the Galach to a senseless pulp?

no no no,

this was the one the little kinderlach would make fun of till their totties made them stop.
Obviously after this maysah no one bothered him again

yeah,

but this was a pretty standard story, after the golem told us that he took care of khaleed and you wiped their memories the forensic team decided it was the priest who killed khaleed and the kid and they charged him for double homicide.

but this was one of the less interesting stories....

My Gilgul story:

I once tripped on top of a hill and rolled all the way down....

Too bad it wasn't snowy or I could have had a Tikkun.
