

Important Variances Regarding Parve Cholent & Beer

Posted by ZemirosShabbos - 20 Nov 2014 22:19

If you struggle with eating parve cholent, either because it's 'parve-cholent-tuesday' in yeshiva, because the kollel budget mandates it or the local cattle have migrated to gentler climes, fear not.

Our resident mekubal and cholent chef, Mr. Isidore Wide E. Nuff, CCC-FB (certified cholent chef - fatso bela"z) has determined based on extensive research on hebrewbooks.org and copious hours of studying at the feet of Fetter Geegle that the same rectifications and supernal unifications achieved by fleishige cholent can be reached through parve cholent, with a small caveat. You must put in a six-pack of quality beer. What constitutes quality beer and what is inferior and should be avoided is beyond the scope of this dissertation and will not be addressed in the interests of national security.

ZemirosShabbos

DMS1234 w/o lamaze

LOL, to be honest i had to look up what that meant but that is funny!

Is a vegan cholent different than a vegetarian cholent?

Does a dairy cholent have the same halacha as a parve cholent? Or is it B'di-evid (correct spelling?)? L'maaseh there is something extra in the pot. Its not just barley and whatever else is in a parve cholent.

On second thought, a dairy chulent is basar b'chalav. So, yeah, its an abomination even on Shavuos.

What if i don't eat meat on shabbos? Is it better to not eat dairy/parve cholent than to not eat cholent?

Isn't not eating cholent an issur d'roisa?

are you referrin' to the latter stages of the thread, or the beginnin'?

Either way, my feelin's on the subject now are that meat is pretty much a necessity for the cholent, and ling.... would be nice, but ultimately, however she is comfortable.

Is the inyan of the beer a din of bishul or a din of achila?

nafka minas are:

1. Does the beer have to be put in before the cholent gets yad soledes bo? (If so, bedieved is it enough to cool off the cholent or does it have to be made from scratch?)
2. Can the beer be heated up in a separate pot and then mixed in together?
3. Is it davka a din in putting the beer into the cholent or can you put the beer in first and then add the cholent?

Another shayla that must be determined:

Can you eat such a cholent during the nine days? perhaps the beer gives it a din of cholent completely thus rendering it as if it was a fleishige cholent?
