

Men's only office - Positions available

Posted by markz - 16 Oct 2015 19:12

lookingforhelp wrote:

I work in a frum office owned by frum people. However there're many females working there as well. They're seated separately but they pass by a whole time. There're many of them that are very attractive. It's almost impossible to keep your eyes shut the whole day. I'm sure that there's millions of other Jews in the same or worse circumstances. So is there any solution to this issue?

I'm sure there's no magic solution. But there must be some way of keeping your mind clear.

There're a few men that chill with some girls as well. Even though I never did so. (Not cuz I'm better I happen not to be outgoing). When seeing that it also doesn't bring great thoughts into my mind.

So if anybody has a good idea I'll appreciate it.

Thanx

Life is unmanageable

Guard your eyes has heard our call, and is actively looking to build a massive office building, in the Tri-state area, for male members only. This will relieve many people the challenges of seeing women in their offices.

Currently they are seeking 6 fundraisers.

To apply you must first sign the "Tool Free Agreement"

committing to abstain from using any lust relieving tools provided on the guardyoureyes websites, or any affiliate websites and subsidiaries.

The offices will initially be selling

- Parve Cholent
- Glasses that cloud when any female is within 200 yards
- Life insurance for truckers that use these patented glasses

Resumes should please be sent to...tba

=====

====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by Shlomo24 - 21 Jan 2016 19:01

This is an accurate description of me when I see a creepy crawly

=====

====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by Shlomo24 - 21 Jan 2016 19:03

=====

====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by stillgoing - 21 Jan 2016 19:06

Shlomo24 wrote:

This is an accurate description of me when I see a creepy crawly

Warning: Spoiler!

=====

=====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by stillgoing - 21 Jan 2016 19:19

Shlomo24 wrote:

This is an accurate description of me when I see a creepy crawly

...thus said the former used furniture sales man...

=====

=====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by markz - 24 Jan 2016 05:10

Shlomo24 wrote:

Cool, so start a new thread for that, and get the recruiting fired up!!

I installed the men's only thread as a reply to a suffering brother, because lookingforhelp wrote:

I work in a frum office owned by frum people. However there're many females working there as well. They're seated separately but they pass by a whole time. There're many of them that are very attractive. It's almost impossible to keep your eyes shut the whole day. I'm sure that there's millions of other Jews in the same or worse circumstances. So is there any solution to this issue?

I'm sure there's no magic solution. But there must be some way of keeping your mind clear.

There're a few men that chill with some girls as well. Even though I never did so. (Not cuz I'm better I happen not to be outgoing). When seeing that it also doesn't bring great thoughts into my mind.

So if anybody has a good idea I'll appreciate it.

Thanx

=====

Re: Not Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by stillgoing - 25 Jan 2016 22:16

In response to Markz,

Shlomo24 wrote:

I think it might be better for me to work on the women's side

MarkZ wrote:

Cool, so start a new thread for that, and get the recruiting fired up!!

MarkQ wrote:

Obviously (to me) the above solution was not going to save the worlds problems, so MarkQ and his friends set about opening a new and improved building. In the new complex, clouded glasses will no longer be needed. Females will be allowed in since they are not the main cause of the challenge, rather every male who enters must wear a bubble suit, completely covering everything from his yamuka to the bottom of his shoes. No two workers will be allowed to be alone at the same time. If any worker should need to exchange information with another worker, a go-between must be used. If this does not solve the worlds problems, then I don't know what will! Maybe a trucking company can help.

=====

Re: Men's only office - Positions available
Posted by markz - 02 Jun 2016 01:00

Breaking News

Disclaimer: The Job position is serious and was posted in the GYE email a week ago

Part-time job on GYE

Warning: Spoiler!

We're looking for someone to work for GYE about half a day (40-50 hours a month), to help with the testing of the website's many features, apps and languages, including the mobile-versions of our sites. Besides for testing, the job would entail working with Yaakov and working with our programming team in the Ukraine to ensure that all bugs and issues are fixed properly. We're looking for someone detail oriented, organized, systematic, tech savvy, who knows the GYE website well, and someone who can also think out of the box and make helpful suggestions on how to make the GYE features better and more user-friendly.

I wish I could, but unfortunately can't at this time

Anyone Else?

=====