

Embarrassing things we all do and think
Posted by Grant400 - 07 Aug 2020 06:17

I realized that most of the embarrassing things we do, we all do. I figured it would be funny if I listed some and any of you can share yours and we can all get a good laugh realizing we all do the same stuff:

1) "Klapping" selach on shabbos by mistake and immediately opening our hand and scratching our chest and arm for a really long time, maybe even sliding to other places like "oh! This itch wont let up!" Same with kissing our tefillin during krias shema by maariv.

2) When I daven for the amud I always check my phone or listen to the guy next to me to make sure I'm saying the right "yom" before blurting out the ending, even though I already know what day it is.

3) When we get caught staring through the car next to us's window we carefully continue to look in the same direction, just missing eye contact...like, "I wasnt looking at you pick your nose- I was intently staring directly at the spot of bird stuffs on the hood of your car"!

I gotta say, I'm confused. During Tachanun isn't everyone else also saying Tachanun? So who exactly is noticing your mistake?

When you are the Rav and you have to repeat Shmoine Esre....

Especially when you realize most of the way through Chazaras Hashatz....

Whoops...

When I was a kid, I'd never understand why my mother polished silver, like "isn't gold more expensive than silver?"

When an acquaintance walks into the room and says "Hey, how you doing" and I promptly respond "B"H fine and you", he says "what are you up to these days" and I say "you know - same old...blah blah blah..." and he motions to me to shut up already because he's on a call with an airpod stuck in his ear and wasn't talking to me...

Shout out to my good friend, Yitz23.

I don't know about you guys, but I find those few seconds of walking (especially on shabbos), when I see someone approaching and I don't know at which point to wish them a "gut shabbos" exceedingly awkward. Like, I check my watch numerous times, even though I just did the exact same thing for the last guy... oysh.

It took me a few times reading this to get what you were referring to, but I know that experience exactly. I have done the watch move too!

Pretending that im “cracking my neck” when checking out a girl, or just stretching in an awkward way so that they don’t think you’re checking them out

Trying to pick my nose in public (we’re all guys here, so it’s fine), and trying to cover it up with the rest of my hand

I don’t even hide it lest the hiding it attracts attention.

in and out quick and easy

How about making a whole stink about leaving GYE and still being here?
