

Embarrassing things we all do and think

Posted by Grant400 - 07 Aug 2020 06:17

I realized that most of the embarrassing things we do, we all do. I figured it would be funny if I listed some and any of you can share yours and we can all get a good laugh realizing we all do the same stuff:

1) "Klapping" selach on shabbos by mistake and immediately opening our hand and scratching our chest and arm for a really long time, maybe even sliding to other places like "oh! This itch wont let up!" Same with kissing our tefillin during krias shema by maariv.

2) When I daven for the amud I always check my phone or listen to the guy next to me to make sure I'm saying the right "yom" before blurting out the ending, even though I already know what day it is.

3) When we get caught staring through the car next to us's window we carefully continue to look in the same direction, just missing eye contact...like, "I wasnt looking at you pick your nose- I was intently staring directly at the spot of bird stuffs on the hood of your car"!

This didn't happen to me but I heard about it.

Chazzan finishes chatzi kaddish on Friday night just before shmone esrey. Someone claps on the bimah (indicating to say yaaleh veyavo) only problem is, it's not Rosh chodesh.

So now all hell breaks loose as people try to 'nuh uh uhuh' that there is no yaaleh veyavo.

Chaos!!!

Technical question, Why did it have to happen friday night?

That awkward, twisting step taken when a pebble finds its way into a shoe...

Mindlessly fressing yourself to the gizzards after a long hard day until you can no longer breathe with super snacks, cake and chips, and then guiltily washing it all down with a half a bag of healthy, leafy lettuce.

Wasn't sure if this should be a Grouch.

Was in a busy parking lot the other day, when I got back to my car, being that I drive a very popular car, I opened the wrong car and even sat down, It took me a moment to realize I was in the wrong vehicle, when I did, I bolted out of that car like a possessed man and packed out of that parking lot.

Yeah, I'm getting a florescent orange Volkswagen Type 2.

Was gonna very kindly and politely suggest that you open your own thread for this, (Hmmm, how about "Embarrassing things that only idiots do"?) But then realized that I've been guilty of something pretty similar, with shopping carts in the grocery.

Had a time or to when I've marched off with somebody else's cart (of course, always from some hairy dude, much to my utter disappointment...)

Does not change the fact that this may call for a new thread....

Either you eat way more Matza than you need to at the seder, but on Shabbos erev Pesach your bread rolls are the bare minimum shiur or

You complain about how much matza you need to eat at the seder, but Shabbos erev Pesach you need a triple k'zayiz of bread

Warning: Spoiler!

(Also wanted to bump this thread in case anyone needs to relieve a bit of pre-Pesach stress).

I once davened at the amud, when we finished kedusha the old grumpy man sitting on the head table plopped down into his chair with a very loud gasp, I burst out laughing uncontrollably... Lauging is catchy, and within a few seconds half the shul was rolling their heads off, while trying to yell "nu nu nu"...
