i have a 300 dollar credit from delta airlines. It expires and is not transferable. Flying from nyc to Florida is like 50 dollars. I am unsure if Florida is kosher enough for shmirat einayim. What do you think? Any suggestions where I should go? I will go with my wife but unsure if I will bring my kids.

Arizona?

there is a new Yishuv of chasidem in Casa Grande, (cgsuites.com or arizonakosherresorts.com) suites, private villas, and shuls and a kosher grocery in Florida North Miami beach (by 172nd st area) is really nice and totally not pritzusdig, of course not mentioning the airports, there is countless of kosher houses near a shul, (for mucho dinero $$$) or if you don't mind the private gated pool you go always opt in for an Airbnb

Arizona?

cgsuites.com or arizonakosherresorts.com

Why are these 2 links bringing me to the same web page?

CG suites is only small rooms or small suites, not fully private villas with private pools, but the other site is with private pools and Etc.

Tons of theme parks (obviously consider the dress of people, consider going on a colder day / taking off glasses etc) and lots of cheaper knock-off theme parks that are very fun in Orlando. They have a small community there but have a few restaurants and minyanim.
