

The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Speaking to a few friends offline gave birth to this idea, it seems to be an urgent and immediate necessity.

Welcome to...The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

This thread is a place where one can feel free to rant, vent and gripe.

It is a safe haven for negativity, sourness and blahness.

It is a place where one can be sure to find a healthy dose of demotivating advice. It is a place where any kind of positivity is strictly forbidden.

It is a place where you can vent about what a rotten day you're having and not worry that people will then reach out with concerned pm's/texts...cuz nobody really cares. And that's perfectly fine, why should anybody care?

Please Remember:

-No profanity (Sadly)

-No personal insults (Sadly)

- Absolutely no: Nice, positive, warm, loving, optimistic, motivational, supportive or inspiring posts. (Not sadly)

Enter at your own risk!

Speaking of which, while the heck are "they"? We're always quoting them, and yet we have no idea who they are!!! (Then again, who are "we"?)

I feel like there's some personal beef goin' on here.

Unrelated grouch. Had a wet dream Tisha B'av night (full on technicolor affair-with-a-shiksa wet dream, special effects and all). And while I *know* it's not my fault, and it's an ones, and I'm not going to hell for it and all those nice things . . . still feels pretty lousy.

I can only think of one good reason the YH would plage you with this davka on Tisha b'Av. If he Mod's nuked my stimulation thread anyways felt he had a good standing against you, he'd not feel the need to resort to more extreme measures. Must be he's a little nervous about you and is trying to get to you.

Totally normal to not feel great about that, but hoping you pull past it soon and leave it behind you.

edit: Alright, alright, to avoid getting nuked by the grouch mods I'll add -- GET OVER IT!

And now will you please put the Cordnoy away?

For supper before the fast, we were going to have salmon with roasted vegetables and rice. Sounds yummy and filling, right?

Well, as it turned out, my wife didn't realize that supper was supposed to be eaten before mincha. Not only that, she left her phone in her room and didn't answer my calls to tell her so. And so, when I got home at around 5:45, the rice had just been put up (it got ready just after the fast started), and the veggies and salmon were totally unprepared. Harrumph.

BH.

Strike One?

EDIT: BenH, I tried putting Cordnoy away but for some reason its stuck in place...I think it's bewitched forever and ever.

That's an appropriate response for the grouch thread. I don't think Camala Harris got me worked up, but who knows.

Devastating nuke. It's really a shame...I really felt like I could be mashpia so much wisdom on that thread...oh well. I'm still here via PM for those that are crazy enough to ask. (To quote a tough guy in the recent news: "DONT")

Regarding the dream, my warped, twisted mind has a hard time understanding why you'd feel lousy after that, but I guess that's a perfect sentiment for The Grouchery.

This is not for the grumps. This is awesome! You have a wife that cares for you! And she is a human with bechira and potential mistakes, so even more amazing when she does things for you! You have money and access to salmon! And much more... Wow!!

So, yesterday was supposed to see us having grilled chicken for supper. This meant that the hubby makes it. Which is always annoying, because 1- wives are supposed to make suppers.

Not husbands. (Right?) 2- she claims that she's nervous around our grill pan- and that's why she wants me to do it. Grouch-worthy enough. But I had a rough time at my last job and got home late and had to run to mincha after showering (I came home quite yucky smelling and feeling). So my supper consisted of leftover rice from before the fast. (Which was a grouch in it's own right. ?? my last grouch.)

When I spoke to my wife in the phone earlier today, I recommended that we should just bake the chicken, so that she would make them herself it would be easier all around, and she agreed.

Fast forward to pre-supper time, and my son trips and falls flat on his face, receiving a nice scratch by his nose. Nu. But y'all know what that means- I get home and NOTHING is ready!!!!

And did I mention that the baby is still teething like a hatter? And he has a cold now.

Oh, and have I mentioned the family of mice that have decided to share their home with us?

Wow, great stuff! Food, job, kids, wife!

And it is great that the mice are generous and sharing!

Not sure if your appreciative post should be allowed here.

Dear women of this bungalow colony that I'm visiting,

Why do you need makeup and a 3 ft long shaitel just to walk to the pool?

(Their response)

Mr BH,

This is our home. We don't know who you are and neither do we care to. Mind your own darn business!

And of course they are right.

Harumph.

Anyone here ever set out to do a deep car cleaning from all the cheerios, pretzels, veggie straws, old bottles etc. Only to end up getting a hidden crumpled up sucked up by a ravenous commercial vaccum??

Warning: Spoiler!
