

The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by youknowwho - 08 Mar 2024 15:01

Speaking to a few friends offline gave birth to this idea, it seems to be an urgent and immediate necessity.

Welcome to...The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

This thread is a place where one can feel free to rant, vent and gripe.

It is a safe haven for negativity, sourness and blahness.

It is a place where one can be sure to find a healthy dose of demotivating advice. It is a place where any kind of positivity is strictly forbidden.

It is a place where you can vent about what a rotten day you're having and not worry that people will then reach out with concerned pm's/texts...cuz nobody really cares. And that's perfectly fine, why should anybody care?

Please Remember:

-No profanity (Sadly)

-No personal insults (Sadly)

- Absolutely no: Nice, positive, warm, loving, optimistic, motivational, supportive or inspiring posts. (Not sadly)

Enter at your own risk!

=====

====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by rebakiva - 03 Mar 2025 17:33

Where did all this positivity for grouching come from??

Grouching (by order of the courts, presided by Justice YKW, Justice Redfaced, and Justice IDK) shall only be done in a low grumpy cynical and depressed tone!

=====
====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by BenHashemBH - 03 Mar 2025 17:38

It's Monday

*LeSigh
Warning: Spoiler!

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by markz - 03 Mar 2025 18:18

rebAkiva please drop a recording right here, so we can know what the rules are

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by iyh2023 - 03 Mar 2025 18:19

markz wrote on 03 Mar 2025 18:18:

rebAkiva please drop a recording right here, so we can know what the rules are

The grouch should sound something like Cordnoys avatar.

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by tzitzis dude - 03 Mar 2025 20:47

tzitzis dude wrote on 03 Mar 2025 17:16:

I regret (snort, as if) to inform y'all that you've lost your status of "Grouchers". If anything, y'all are now "grouchers".

I mean, c'mon, it's MONDAY, for crying out loud!

GET GROUCHING!!!!

I had off from work today and was driving my wife to her work. Thinking about the post above, I muttered to myself, "the things I do for The Grouchery".

My wife overhears this and says, "what, you're driving me just to get material for The Grouchery? Gee thanks!"

Y'all are welcome.

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by chancyhk - 03 Mar 2025 21:39

tzitzis dude wrote on 03 Mar 2025 20:47:

tzitzis dude wrote on 03 Mar 2025 17:16:

I regret (snort, as if) to inform y'all that you've lost your status of "Grouchers". If anything, y'all are now "grouchers".

I mean, c'mon, it's MONDAY, for crying out loud!

GET GROUCHING!!!!!!

I had off from work today and was driving my wife to her work. Thinking about the post above, I muttered to myself, "the things I do for The Grouchery".

My wife overhears this and says, "what, you're driving me just to get material for The Grouchery? Gee thanks!"

Y'all are welcome.

This story is the perfect example of where The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled TM went south.....

Sounds innocent enough, but underlying is a just a sweet story of a husband driving around his wife and his wife lovingly teases him.....

Im sorry, this is waaayyyyyyyyyyyyyyy too sweet for The Grouchery.

Zero Tolerance from now on!!!!!!!!!!!!

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by tzitzis dude - 09 Mar 2025 00:46

Guys, let's get pumped!!

#NO_MORE_EXCUSES!!!!

Warning: Spoiler!

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by thompson - 09 Mar 2025 04:24

tzizis dude wrote on 09 Mar 2025 00:46:

Guys, let's get pumped!!

#NO_MORE_EXCUSES!!!!

Unless, of course, you are no longer a "Groucher", rather a "groucher".

Well, Dedi was a Graucher. So there.

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by chosemyshem - 10 Mar 2025 14:53

This is not a grouch. But I had a grouch validated in such a satisfying way yesterday.

Warning: Spoiler!

As you probably do not remember, I grouched somewhere around here about the "Hashem needs every Yid" bumper stickers. I think that was a pretty solid grouch - an expression of being deeply bothered about something petty and pointless but genuinely wrong.

So there I was last night on LinkedIn (forgive me for announcing my sins in public). I was there for a genuine business purpose, but I happened to see the top post on the feed.

Keep in mind, I find frum LinkedIn to be tremendously entertaining. It's a beautiful combination of hustlers selling to other hustlers, frum people entranced by the only social media access they have, weird boasting, thirsting for likes etc. etc. I love it.

So this post I spotted was by someone who appears to be a graphic designer for OOoorah, and I guess she made this bumper sticker that I hate. The post said something like, "What would you do if your work caused a controversy." And she posted what looked like a letter to the Voice grouching about the bumper sticker.

Let that sink in. My grouch was validated by a grouchy letter in the Voice posted on LinkedIn. I don't think it gets more petty and grumpy than that.

She also had a picture of someone who cut the bumper sticker in half and put the top over the bottom. So it read "Every Yid needs Hashem." I vote for that guy to be the new Head of Grouching.

And yes, the comments were exactly as entertaining as you would expect.

#TYH

=====
====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled

Posted by tzitzis dude - 10 Mar 2025 21:32

chosemyshem wrote on 10 Mar 2025 14:53:

This is not a grouch. But I had a grouch validated in such a satisfying way yesterday.

Warning: Spoiler!

As you probably do not remember, I grouched somewhere around here about the "Hashem needs every Yid" bumper stickers. I think that was a pretty solid grouch - an expression of being deeply bothered about something petty and pointless but genuinely wrong.

So there I was last night on LinkedIn (forgive me for announcing my sins in public). I was there for a genuine business purpose, but I happened to see the top post on the feed.

Keep in mind, I find frum LinkedIn to be tremendously entertaining. It's a beautiful combination of hustlers selling to other hustlers, frum people entranced by the only social media access they have, weird boasting, thirsting for likes etc. etc. I love it.

So this post I spotted was by someone who appears to be a graphic designer for OOoorah, and I guess she made this bumper sticker that I hate. The post said something like, "What would you do if your work caused a controversy." And she posted what looked like a letter to the Voice grouching about the bumper sticker.

Let that sink in. My grouch was validated by a grouchy letter in the Voice posted on LinkedIn. I don't think it gets more petty and grumpy than that.

She also had a picture of someone who cut the bumper sticker in half and put the top over the bottom. So it read "Every Yid needs Hashem." I vote for that guy to be the new Head of Grouching.

And yes, the comments were exactly as entertaining as you would expect.

#TYH

I noticed how "Grouclord" wasn't named. That cowardice alone should be enough to have you booted.

Lucky for you that your original Grouch was ?????? ??????.

Warning: Spoiler!

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by youknowwho - 12 Mar 2025 21:30

Taanis Esther. Love to fast!

Megillah. Love to listen to it while starving, gragers and firecrackers blasting in my ears!

Purim. Love to run around town to 87 different stops in deadlocked traffic, kids bouncing around in the back, baby hollering and toddlers tantruming about who gets which candies/prizes

Purim. Love to meet all the Rebbis' and teachers, smile and dance cheerily with a plastic smile, act like I actually have an ounce of patience.

Purim. Love to merrily throw singles at everybody, including the 147 kids by Mincha, "kol haposhet yad, nos'nin lo"!

Purim. Love to show up after all the above at the Shviggers Purim Suedah, paste a fake smile on my face and act like I am full of happiness and joy as my dorky brother's in law arrive way after me, all tipsy and huggy, while I am sober as a doorknob because wife hates when I drink.

Ah, the joys of Purim!

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by chosemyshem - 13 Mar 2025 14:44

youknowwho wrote on 12 Mar 2025 21:30:

Taanis Esther. Love to fast!

Megillah. Love to listen to it while starving, gragers and firecrackers blasting in my ears!

Purim. Love to run around town to 87 different stops in deadlocked traffic, kids bouncing around in the back, baby hollering and toddlers tantruming about who gets which candies/prizes

Purim. Love to meet all the Rebbis' and teachers, smile and dance cheerily with a plastic smile, act like I actually have an ounce of patience.

Purim. Love to merrily throw singles at everybody, including the 147 kids by Mincha, "kol haposhet yad, nos'nin lo"!

Purim. Love to show up after all the above at the Shviggers Purim Suedah, paste a fake smile on my face and act like I am full of happiness and joy as my dorky brother's in law arrive way after me, all tipsy and huggy, while I am sober as a doorknob because wife hates when I drink.

Ah, the joys of Purim!

Bah! Humbug!

Bro, I'm as Grinchy as the next guy, but even I think this is taking it a little far.

Forget the shalach manos, forget the kids rebbeim, daven mincha at home, and get plaaaaaaaaaastered.

Or don't.

Point is, all these things are a chelek of the simcha. If all these things are detracting from the simcha then your options are either to drop these things or figure out how to do them b'simcha.

Abide.

Warning: Spoiler!

There is one special grouch this year though. You know that feeling of rolling into kabbalas shabbos half-drunk and uncomfortable and the place is packed with drunk guys doing a bizarre Carlebach thing. And you just want to go home, eat two bites of challah and pass out?

I hate that feeling.

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by youknowwho - 13 Mar 2025 17:18

chosemyschem wrote on 13 Mar 2025 14:44:

Bah! Humbug!

Forget the shalach manos, forget the kids rebbeim, daven mincha at home, and get plaaaaaaaaaastered.

Or don't.

Point is, all these things are a chelek of the simcha. If all these things are detracting from the simcha then your options are either to drop these things or figure out how to do them b'simcha.

Warning: Spoiler!

(Chuckling knowingly)

Aha! Clearly, you must live somewhere between Nauru and Burma.

In my part of the planet, we all do things (even though they detract from simcha, rationality or common sense) and we also never figure out how to do said absurd things b'simcha.

I think it's called getting "Double Screwed" or something like that?

=====
=====

Re: The Grouchery: Haven for the Grumpily Disgruntled
Posted by foolie - 13 Mar 2025 17:41

Or how about getting roped into laining the megilla for your wife's sister's under the guise and pretense of oh it's a family party tradition that we started 5 years ago that half the family isn't even invited to. When you were simply hoping to enjoy not having to lain the megilla at night because heck laining even if you're not prepared is still very tiring

=====
=====